VON TIRPITZ HAS RESIGNED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, March 16.—Official announcement was made today that Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz, German minister of marine, has resigned because of illness.

Admiral von Capelle, director of the administration department of the admiralty, has been appointed successor to Admiral von Tirpitz.

Rumors of Admiral von Tirpitz's resignation had been in circulation for twenty-four hours before the announcement was made, the unofficial reports attributing the navy chief's departure from the admiralty to the inactivity of the fleet.

It is believed that the submarine policy of the government will stand.

Admiral von Tirpitz has been accused by his enemies of being the father of the "policy of frightfulness." He was the originator of the submarine blockade, but is understood to have consistently opposed the departure of the German high seas fleet from the Kiel canal. It was reported in some quarters that Admiral von Tirpitz had been compelled to resign by the Kaiser to avoid dismissal, but this was contrary to the information conveyed in the official statement.

The resignation of the minister of marine was a thunderbolt to Germany and many regarded it as a national misfortune.

According to press reports the admiral is ill from over work and anxiety and this has been aggravated by disappointment. Plans which Admiral von Tirpitz had worked out failed of success, and this was no fault of the head of the navy. However, it increased the worries of the admiral.

The Kaiser, it is said, accepted Admiral von Tirpitz's resignation with reluctance and is expected to create him a count in recognition of his services. It is certain that decorations and probably a pension will be conferred upon the retiring official.

There are some who believe that the departure of Admiral von Tirpitz marks a change in the naval policy of Germany and that the high seas fleet will now come forth to give battle to the British fleet.

TORPEDO MISSES FRENCH LINER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 16.—The French liner Patria, which arrived today from Mediterranean ports, was attacked without warning by a submarine of the coast of Tunis on March 1. A torpedo was fired at the liner, and missed the steamer's stern by only twenty feet.

The Patria, a vessel of 11,885 tons, carried no armament. On the voyage during which it narrowly escaped destruction it carried 1,900 passengers.

Captain Dechelles, commander of the Patria, notified the Fabre Line offices of the attack as soon as the liner docked today. The Fabre Line announced that the American state department would be informed of the attack. There were twenty Americans on board.

The attack occurred at 9:15 o'clock in the morning. Captain Dechelles stated. The submarine had not been seen until the torpedo was launched and had made no effort to stop the vessel.

The wake of the torpedo was seen by officers of the Patria and by passengers on board. Then they discovered the submarine at considerable distance. Captain Dechelles ordered full speed and the liner drew away from the submarine without difficulty.

The Patria left Oran, Algeria, on February 18, proceeding to Naples and then to Palermo. It sailed from the latter point on February 29.

AMERICAN TROOPS UNDER FIRE FROM MEXICAN CAVALRY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., March 16.—Francisco Villa has opened his warfare with the American troops sent to hunt him down. News reached here today that mounted Mexicans fired upon the expedition sent into Mexico shortly after it crossed the border yesterday afternoon. There were no casualties and the march of the American column was not halted by the attack.

Thomas Davis, a ranchman living two miles from Columbus, N. M., whence the forces of General J. J. Pershing set out, brought in the details of the first clash between the American and Mexicans.

The Americans had just started across the boundary line when the Mexicans fired a fusillade at the troopers of the Thirteenth Cavalry, which led the expedition. Without awaiting an order, the troopers in advance unslinging their carbines and fired back. The Mexicans then retreated. There were no casualties among the American soldiers, the Mexican marksmanship being poor.

The skirmish was over so quickly that the column was not halted. It continued steadily along the old wagon trail that marked the first part of the course through the treacherous Sierra Madre foothills to the desert over which the Americans must pass to accomplish their purpose of taking Villa alive or killing him.

Davis thought that the attacking Mexicans were Carranzista troops belonging to the command of General Pablo Bertani, but his statement to this effect was contradicted by official reports from Columbus stating that General Bertani was co-operating with the Americans. It was also flatly denied by General Gavira, Carranza commander at Juarez.

"That could not be," exclaimed Gavira, when informed of Davis's report. "Why, I have special instructions from First Chief Carranza not to oppose the American soldiers."

"Does that mean you will co-operate with them?" he was asked.

"I have been told not to oppose them."

Warned by the opening clash that guerrilla tactics might be expected during all the operations in Mexico, no further chances of surprise will be taken by General Pershing and his staff. Immediately after the Mexicans had been driven off two American aeroplanes took the air and flew in advance of the expedition until it halted for the night about ten miles south of the border.

Early today the advance was resumed, with the aeroplanes preceding the column and troop patrols ahead of the main column to pursue any Villa scouts that might attempt to secure information as to the American movements.

The first field headquarters will be established at Guzman, in Chihuahua on the railway. From this point the American troops will be supplied while they wage their campaign against Villa in his refuge in the Sierra Madre mountains.

While the American troops were well over the border today, the tension on the United States side of the boundary was unrelaxed. Additional troops arrived in El Paso during the night, causing a lessening in the local anxiety, but the attitude of the Carranzistas caused general disquiet.

It was reported that General Luis Guitierrez, Carranza commander at Chihuahua, had broken with General Gavira in a stormy conference at Juarez and had declared his intention of declaring himself a Villista. Guitierrez left Juarez for Chihuahua on a special train early today.

At Ojinaga the Carranza troops who mutined and killed their commander are awaiting developments before deciding to ally themselves with the Villistas. Presidio, the Texas town across the border from Ojinaga, is an armed camp. Every precaution is being taken against an attack.

The general direction of the troops already in the field is toward Casas Grandes, in the neighborhood of which Villa is said to be on a mad rampage bent on venting his passion against the Americans by the massacre of 500 Mormons in the Casas Grandes district.

At Colonia Dublan, a Mormon settlement in the Casas Grandes valley, 100 Mormon cottages have been burned by Villistas. The story of the latest outrage of the bandits was brought to El Paso by Alexander Straut, who watched 300 Villistas approach and then fled on horseback.

"I saw them ride up to the settlement," said Straut. "They dismounted and rushed into the houses. The last I saw of the colony the flames and smoke were rising from the houses. We can only imagine what became of the people in the houses."

Bishop Hurst, the Mormon leader in El Paso, attempted to get some word of the raid on Colonia Dublan. His latest report had it that the colonists were armed and prepared to defend themselves.

The American troops were in splendid spirits when the long-awaited orders finally came. They started across to Mexico. For more than three years many of the men had been eating the dust along the Rio Grande aching for a chance to go into Mexico.

Just before the bugle blew the advance, C. K. Warren, a wealthy Michigan man who passes much of his time on the Alamo-Huaco ranch, asked one of the officers the obvious question:

"Well, are you going across the border?"

The officer grinned widely. "Across?" he queried. "Should say not. We're going to pick up the border and take it with us."

General Pershing rode with his men, but was reported later to have returned to the border.

The cavalry horses even seemed to feel the spirit of the advance. They appeared eager to take up the hard grind that it to be theirs in pursuit of Villa, the master of cavalry.

The sharp word of command passed down the line and the column swung into the rhythm of the march. The heavy supply wagons lumbered forward, the wheels of the artillery tossed back rays of the sun as they turned, swords clanked and saddles creaked—and the march was on.

The heavy dust that is characteristic of the district began to rise from beneath the hoofs of the horses and the swinging feet of the infantry. It rose high over the column and hung there as the troops advanced. Long after the last of them had disappeared into the hills, the thick dust marked their progress. That dust in the Sierra Madre is going to be embarrassing to the secrecy of Pershing's march.

The commanders had taken precaution against the Mexican tactics of poisoning water holes. Oliver L. Dawson, chemist in the U. S. customs service, accompanied the troops to make tests of each watering place. Cyanide is a convenient poison in Mexico. It is used extensively in the mines.

A trip into Juarez today revealed nothing new in the covert glance of disdain with which the "gringo" is greeted on the other side of the international bridge.

The doubled guard at each end of the bridge is still posted there. During the night, doubled guards also were placed at public buildings in El Paso. Although an uprising of Mexicans in El Paso was expected with our crossing of the border, there have been only minor disorders.

The government ordered that Mexican employees of the telegraph company be dismissed during the present trouble. It was reported that Villa spies had been working as operators and transmitting messages of troop movements to their chief.

NAVY TO PROTECT CITIZENS IN MEXICO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Diego, Cal., March 16.—With the safety of Americans in Ensenada, Mex., in doubt, the torpedo boat destroyer Stewart today was steaming toward the lower California capital under instructions from the navy department.

Naval officials here refused to say whether any definite reports of trouble had been received from Ensenada. Fishing vessels crews arriving here however, have declared that the city is crowded with Villa adherents and it is feared that those may cause trouble upon learning that an American expedition had crossed the border to capture Villa.

DIAMONDS NOT ACCOUNTED FOR

Also $1,350 Insurance Money Collected. Although Klothe Estate Owes Nearly $600 to Creditors Who Object to Account as Filed.

A hearing was held before Surrogate Gill in the surrogate's court Wednesday afternoon in the matter of the judicial settlement of the account of Lillian B. Klothe and Eleanor Klothe as executrices of the estate of Mrs. Lillian Klothe of this city. Objections to the account having been filed some time ago by James A. Phelan, a creditor, who was represented at the hearing by John T. Cahill. Frederick Stephan, Jr., appeared for the executrices.

The account of the executrices shows that they received $107.53 from the sale of personal effects of the deceased and advanced $199.70; that bills were paid for undertaking and legal expenses amounting to $307.25, and that there is not any money on hand for outstanding bills. The outstanding bills, according to the account, are those of Rufus Carle, for $592.22, and James A. Phelan, for $50.16.

Mr. Phelan objects to the account of the executrices and claims they should be charged with the amount received from the sale of certain personal property, and that diamond earrings alleged by the executrices to have been given to them by the testatrix should be reduced to cash and applied to the account of the creditors. He alleges that a bill of sale claimed by the executrices to have been given to them by the testatrix for certain personal property and certain gifts alleged to have been made to them by the testatrix were without effect because at the time they were given the bills stated had been contracted for.

Mr. Phelan further claims that the funeral expenses were proper charges to have been paid out of insurance money received by the executrices and not from moneys received from the sale of personal property. Such insurance moneys, he alleges, were received from the Macabees, the Shepherds of Bethlehem, the Daughters of America and the Prudential Insurance Company. At a previous hearing it was brought out that insurance moneys had been paid by various insurance and fraternal organizations amounting to $1,300, and at Wednesday's hearing an examination of agents of the Prudential Insurance Company showed that $90 had also been received by the executrices from the Metropolitan Insurance Company.

The policies in the Prudential Company, after deducting liens against them held by the company, amounted to $463.42, which amount was paid by that company. It is claimed that the $1,350 of insurance moneys should have been included in account of the executrices. The matter was adjourned until March 27 for further hearing.

WARLIKE SCENES AT SAN ANTONIO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Antonio, Tex., March 16.—With all south bound trains carrying in fresh troops for every border post, Major General Frederick Funston today turned his attention to preparations for departure. At the same time the general and his staff eagerly awaited news from the flying column of General Pershing which crossed the border yesterday.

According to reports that reached headquarters, Francisco Villa is on his way to Bouquilla, Sonora, with all the forces that he can muster. If these reports are confirmed the direction of march of the American troops may be changed.

Fort Sam Houston, the headquarters of General Funston, was alive with animation, as it was assumed that the general and his staff very soon would move southward and take up a position nearer the border.

The news that American troops actually had crossed into Mexico filled San Antonio with excitement. Before sun-up people were hurrying through the streets, divided into two classes; there were Americans hurrying to the fort to learn the latest news, and running them a close race, there were many of the Mexican population hastening to get out of town. Many Mexicans live in San Antonio and as soon as they learned that the American invasion had become a fact they made plans to move, fearing a racial outbreak.

Texas volunteer regiments did a lively recruiting business today. Detachments from Washington that General Funston had asked for more men than were available in the regular army, and that state militia might be called upon to patrol the border made youths rush to the colors who before had looked only with mild curiosity at the warlike preparations being carried on at Fort Sam Houston.

Early today the only word available at headquarters was that the flying squadron under Brigadier General John J. Pershing had taken the wagon road leading directly into Mexico from Columbus.

General Funston's headquarters are equipped with wireless and telegraph to receive all news from the border and official advices announcing the 7th and 10th Cavalry also had proceeded across the border from Culberson's Ranch were momentarily expected.

The 10th is a negro regiment. The two, commanded by Colonel James B. Erwin and Colonel W. C. Brown, respectively, were stationed at Fort Sam Houston and at Nogales until the Columbus raid.

Rigid censorship was maintained at the fort on all movements of troops, but from the fact that the two cavalry regiments had moved south, from Culberson's Ranch it was surmised that the punitive expedition was headed for Colonia Diaz, a Mormon colony in the foothills of the Sierra Madre mountains in the Rio Chico, whence there runs a good wagon road to the south.

A Tour of South America.

John J. Duffy of LeFevre Falls sails for South America on Saturday next. He will be accompanied by Donald McGonigal of Troy, N. Y., and James Hoey of New York city. The party intend to stop at Havana, Cuba, and thence by steamer to Central America. They then intend to travel the remainder of the journey by land. They will visit all of the republics of South America, and in all probability cover quite a lot of the ground Mr. Roosevelt did in his last exploring trip. They will return by way of Mexico and they will have quite an interesting tale to tell when they reach the United States again.

DUTCH STEAMER SUNK BY A MINE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 16.—The Dutch steamship, Tubantia, 13,011 tons, has been sunk at sea either by a German submarine or a mine.

The Tubantia went down in the North Sea, north of Hinder Sands.

Conflicting reports were received relative to the cause of the disaster.

A Lloyd's message and a dispatch from Dover stated that the vessel had struck a mine; a despatch to the Reuter agency, however, said that the ship had been sunk by a submarine.

The Tubantia was one of the finest ships in the South American trade and was practically a new boat.

The Tubantia carried mails and passengers. The destruction of the ship occurred in waters which are said to have been recently mined by German submarines.

The first advices left the fate of the crew and passengers in doubt, but it was believed that they had succeeded in taking to the life boats.

A Central News despatch received shortly after noon said:

"All on board the Tubantia were saved."

The wireless stations along the southeast coast began picking up S. O. S. calls from the Tubantia about 3 o'clock this morning and tugs were at once sent to her assistance from Dover.

The wireless operator on the steamer reported that the vessel was badly damaged and that she was sinking fast.

The Tubantia sailed from Amsterdam for Buenos Aires and other American ports on Wednesday.

In addition to her passengers the Dutch ship carried a crew of 300.

A big hole was torn in the Tubantia amidships and she instantly began to fill with water.

The disaster occurred between 2 and 3 o'clock. There was a mighty explosion and the ship rolled on the surface of the water and then began to settle on her side. Survivors were unable to say whether a mine or torpedo had caused the destruction of the vessel, but most of them believed it was a mine. This opinion was based upon the belief that it was too dark for a submarine to aim a torpedo.

Although no definite information was received on the subject it was believed that there were citizens of the United States on board the Tubantia.

Eighty passengers were booked to board the steamer at Falmouth and she was also to take on board $3,750,000 in specie at that port.

MEXICANS MURDER AMERICAN RANCHER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
San Antonio, March 16.—James B. Careless, an American rancher, living in Coahuila, has been murdered by Mexican soldiers wearing the uniform of Carranzistas, according to information received here today.

Cowboys employed on the J. M. Dobie ranch at Musquiz, Coahuila, are said to have found the body.

Careless, who lived thirty miles from Musquiz, left here ten days ago with over $10,000 worth of supplies. His murder, however, is believed to have occurred yesterday.

The marks on the body indicated that the American had been tortured before being put to death.

Careless, who was 38 years old, was a native of New York. He has been living in Mexico, however, for twenty years.

Careless regarded himself as perfectly safe in Mexico, saying just before he left San Antonio: "I feel just as safe on Mexican soil as I do in the United States."

Just before the bugle blew the advance, C. K. Warren, a wealthy Michigan man who passes much of his time on the Alamo-Huaco ranch, asked one of the officers the obvious question: "Well, are you going across the border?"

The officer grinned widely. "Across?" he queried. "I should say not. We're going to pick up the border and take it with us."

General Pershing rode with his men, but was reported later to have returned to the border.

The cavalry horses even seemed to feel the spirit of the advance. They appeared eager to take up the hard grind that it to be theirs in pursuit of Villa, the master of cavalry.

The sharp word of command passed down the line, and the column swung into the rhythm of the march. The heavy supply wagons lumbered forward, the wheels of the animals turned back rays of the sun as they turned, swords clanked and saddles creaked—and the march was on.

The heavy dust that is characteristic of the district began to rise from beneath the hoofs of the horses and the swinging feet of the infantry. It rose high over the column and hung there as the troops advanced. Long after the last of them had disappeared into the hills, the thick dust marked their progress.

That dust in the Sierra Madre is going to be embarrassing to the secrecy of Pershing's march.

The commanders had taken precaution against the Mexican tactics of poisoning water holes. Oliver L. Dawson, chemist in the U. S. customs service, accompanied the troops to make tests of each watering place. Cyanide is a convenient poison in Mexico. It is used extensively in the mines.

A trip into Juarez today revealed nothing new in the covert glances of disdain with which the "gringo" is greeted on the other side of the international bridge.

The doubled guard at each end of the bridge is still posted there. During the night, doubled guards also were placed at public buildings in El Paso. Although an uprising of Mexicans in El Paso was expected with our crossing of the border, there have been only minor disorders.

The government ordered that Mexican employees of the telegraph company be dismissed during the present trouble. It was reported that Villa spies had been working as operators and transmitting messages of troop movements to their chief.

NAVY TO PROTECT CITIZENS IN MEXICO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Diego, Cal., March 16.—With the safety of Americans in Ensenada, Mex., in doubt, the torpedo boat destroyer, Stewart today was steamed toward the lower California capital under instructions from the navy department.

Naval officials here refused to say whether any definite reports of trouble had been received from Ensenada. Fishing vessels crews arriving here however, have declared that the city is crowded with Villa adherents and it is feared that these may cause trouble upon learning that an American expedition had crossed the border to capture Villa.

DIAMONDS NOT ACCOUNTED FOR

Also $1,350 Insurance Money Collected. Although Klothe Estate Owes Nearly $800 to Creditors Who Object to Account as Filed.

A hearing was had before Surrogate Gili in the surrogate's court Wednesday afternoon in the matter of the judicial settlement of the account of Lillian B. Klothe and Eleanor Klothe as executrices of the estate of Mrs. Lillian Klothe of this city. Objections to the account having been filed some time ago by James A. Phelan, a creditor, who was represented at the hearing by John T. Cahill, Frederick Stephan, Jr., appeared for the executrices.

The account of the executrices shows that they received $107.55 from the sale of personal effects of the deceased and advanced $199.70; that bills were paid for undertaking and funeral expenses amounting to $307.25, and that there is not any money on hand for outstanding bills. The outstanding bills, according to the account, are those of Rufus Carle, for $392.22, and James A. Phelan for $50.16.

Mr. Phelan objects to the account of the executrices and claims they should be charged with the amount received from the sale of certain personal property, and that diamond earrings alleged by the executrices to have been given to them by the testatrix should be reduced to cash and applied to the account of the creditors. He alleges that a bill of sale claimed by the executrices to have been given to them by the testatrix for certain personal property and certain gifts alleged to have been made to them by the testatrix were without effect because at the time they were given the bills stated had been contracted for.

Mr. Phelan further claims that the funeral expenses were proper charges to have been paid out of insurance money received by the executrices and not from money received from the sale of personal property. Such insurance money, he alleges, were received from the Maccabees, the Shepherds of Bethlehem, the Daughters of America and the Prudential Insurance Company. At a previous hearing it was brought out that insurance money had been paid by various insurance and fraternal organizations amounting to $1,300, and at Wednesday's hearing an examination of agents of the Prudential Insurance Company showed that $90 had also been received by the executrices from the Metropolitan Insurance Company. The policies in the Prudential Company, after deducting liens against them held by the company, amounted to $463.42, which amount was paid by that company. It is claimed that the $1,350 of insurance money should have been included in account of the executrices. The matter was adjourned until March 27 for further hearing.

Brownsville, Tex., March 16.—American troops are guarding the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico railway today owing to the attack made by Mexican bandits upon soldiers protecting the Barreda bridge near Kingsville, Tex., last night. Texas rangers are hunting the bandits. The country through which the railway passes is favorable for guerrilla operations. The guards at the international bridge and the ferry to Matamoros have been doubled.

WARLIKE SCENES AT SAN ANTONIO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Antonio, Tex., March 16.—With all south bound trains carrying in fresh troops for every border post, Major General Frederick Funston today turned his attention to preparations for departure. At the same time the general and his staff eagerly awaited news from the flying column of General Pershing which crossed the border yesterday.

According to reports that reached headquarters, Francisco Villa is on his way to Bonquilla, Sonora, with all the forces that he can muster. If these reports are confirmed the direction of march of the American troops may be changed.

Fort Sam Houston, the headquarters of General Funston, was alive with animation, as it was assumed that the general and his staff very soon would move southward and take up a position nearer the border.

The news that American troops actually had crossed into Mexico filled San Antonio with excitement. Before sun-up people were hurrying through the streets, divided into two classes; there were Americans hurrying to the fort to learn the latest news, and running them a close race, there were many of the Mexican population hastening to get out of town. Many Mexicans live in San Antonio and as soon as they learned that the American invasion had become a fact they made plans to move, fearing a racial outbreak.

Texas volunteer regiments did a lively recruiting business today. Despatches from Washington that General Funston had asked for more men than were available in the regular army, and that state militia might be called upon to patrol the border made youths rush to the colors who before had looked only with mild curiosity at the warlike preparations being carried on at Fort Sam Houston.

Early today the only word available at headquarters was that the flying squadron under Brigadier General John J. Pershing had taken the wagon road leading directly into Mexico from Columbus.

General Funston's headquarters are equipped with wireless and telegraph to receive all news from the border and official advices announcing that the 7th and 19th Cavalry also had proceeded across the border from Culberson's Ranch were momentarily expected.

The 10th is a negro regiment. The two, commanded by Colonel James B. Erwin and Colonel W. C. Brown, respectively, were stationed at Fort Sam Houston and at Nogales until the Columbus raid.

Rigid censorship was maintained at the fort on all movements of troops, but from the fact that the two cavalry regiments had moved south from Culberson's Ranch it was surmised that the punitive expedition was headed for Colonia Diaz, a Mormon colony in the foothills of the Sierra Madre mountains in the Rio Chico, whence there runs a good wagon road to the south.

A Tour of South America.

John J. Duffy of LeFevre Falls sails for South America on Saturday next. He will be accompanied by Donald McGonigal of Troy, N. Y., and James Hoey of New York city. The party intend to stop at Havana, Cuba, and thence by steamer to Central America. They then intend to travel the remainder of the journey by land. They will visit all of the republics of South America, and in all probability cover quite a lot of the ground Mr. Roosevelt did in his last exploring trip. They will return by way of Mexico and they will have quite an interesting tale to tell when they reach the United States again.

DUTCH STEAMER SUNK BY A MINE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 16.—The Dutch steamship, Tubantia, 13,911 tons, has been sunk at sea either by a German submarine or a mine.

The Tubantia went down in the North Sea, north of Hinder Sands. Conflicting reports were received relative to the cause of the disaster.

A Lloyd's message and a dispatch from Dover stated that the vessel had struck a mine; a despatch to the Reuter agency, however, said that the ship had been sunk by a submarine.

The Tubantia was one of the finest ships in the South American trade and was practically a new boat. The Tubantia carried mails and passengers.

The destruction of the ship occurred in waters which are said to have been recently mined by German submarines.

The first advices left the fate of the crew and passengers in doubt, but it was believed that they had succeeded in taking to the life boats.

A Central News despatch received shortly after noon said: "All on board the Tubantia were saved."

The wireless stations along the southeast coast began picking up S. V. S. calls from the Tubantia about 3 o'clock this morning and tugs were at once sent to her assistance from Dover.

The wireless operator on the steamer reported that the vessel was being attacked and that she was sinking fast.

The Tubantia sailed from Amsterdam for Buenos Aires and other American ports on Wednesday.

In addition to her passengers the Dutch ship carried a crew of 309. A big hole was torn in the Tubantia amidships and she instantly began to fill with water.

The disaster occurred between 2 and 3 o'clock. There was a mighty explosion and the ship rolled on the surface of the water and then began to settle on her side. Survivors were unable to say whether a mine or torpedo had caused the destruction of the vessel, but most of them believed it was a mine. This opinion was based upon the belief that it was too dark for a submarine to aim a torpedo.

Although no definite information was received on the subject it was believed that there were citizens of the United States on board the Tubantia.

Eighty passengers were booked to board the steamer at Falmouth and she was also to take on board $3,750,000 in specie at that port.

MEXICANS MURDER AMERICAN RANCHER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Antonio, March 16.—James B. Careless, an American rancher, living in Coahuila, has been murdered by Mexican soldiers wearing the uniform of Carranzistas, according to information received here today.

Cowboys employed on the J. M. Dobie ranch at Musquiz, Coahuila, are said to have found the body.

Careless, who lived thirty miles from Musquiz, left here ten days ago with over $10,000 worth of supplies. His murder, however, is believed to have occurred yesterday.

The marks on the body indicated that the American had been tortured before being put to death.

Careless, who was 38 years old, was a native of New York. He has been living in Mexico, however, for twenty years.

Careless regarded himself as perfectly safe in Mexico, saying just before he left San Antonio: "I feel just as safe on Mexican soil as I do in the United States."

EXPEDITION FINDS MEXICANS WOUNDED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., March 16.—Army trucks connected with General Pershing's expedition, returning to Columbus today, brought with them a dozen wounded Mexicans. The wounded were abandoned by Villa after his brush with American troops following the massacre at Columbus last week ago. American scouts found the wounded. They were attended at a field hospital. The Mexicans were greatly surprised at the treatment. They had expected to be executed and had attempted to hide when the cavalrymen approached.

ANOTHER COLUMN TO ENTER MEXICO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., March 16.—General Dodd's command from Hachita, N. M., is already across the border, acting as a flank guard for General Pershing's expedition, according to reliable information here today. It is now believed that another column will start soon from the neighborhood of El Paso.

Fresh troops arrived here overnight, apparently to join the next command that will co-operate with General Pershing.

TOPSY TOBE BREAKS WORLD'S MILK RECORD

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Utica, March 16.—Cremelle Topsy Ormsby Tobe, developed by B. T. Boyson of Rome, was announced today as a world record breaking Holstein cow. This shatters the world's milk production record by about 4,000 pounds.

AS WE GROW OLDER

our minds are quite as active as in former years but our strength does not respond when we need it most; perhaps the kidneys are weak, the liver torpid, rheumatic pains or stiffened joints beset us, and we cannot easily throw off the colds that winter brings.

What we need is the rich cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion to renew the blood and carry strength to every organ of the body, while its glycerine soothes the respiratory tract, and its hypophosphites strengthen the excitable nerves.

Scott's Emulsion is a scientific oil-food, of unusual benefit to those past fifty years—particularly during the colder seasons, it imparts warmth and creates strength. One bottle will prove its worth. No alcohol or harmful drugs. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 15-34

GOOD DISHES FOR LENT.

This is the season when we should appreciate our delicious cheese and use it in many combinations with vegetables for the main or chief dish of the meal.

Escalloped Onions With Cheese.—Boil until tender a dozen or more small sized onions, drain carefully and place in a fireproof serving dish. Pour over a cupful and a half of thick white sauce, and a cupful of finely chopped cheese, cover with buttered crumbs and place in the oven long enough to brown the crumbs. Too long or too hot a cooking will toughen the cheese.

Lentil Soup.—Wash a half pound of lentils and soak all night in a quart of water. Cut one medium sized onion in small pieces, also one turnip, one carrot and two stalks of celery. Cook these in a tablespoonful of butter for five minutes, add the lentils and water in which they were soaked and one teaspoonful of salt. Boil and skim, then simmer two hours. Rub through a sieve. Return to a saucepan, and bind with two tablespoonfuls of butter and flour with a cupful of milk. Serve at once.

Macaroni With Chestnuts.—Bake twenty chestnuts until soft, then pound in a mortar with pepper, salt and butter. Add a half pound of cooked macaroni, four tablespoonfuls of butter and a tablespoonful of onion juice, if too dry add a little milk, stir in a cupful of grated cheese, heat very hot and serve.

Fricassee of Onions and Potatoes.—Take a dozen small potatoes, peeled, and a half dozen small onions, also peeled. Place in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter and cook five minutes. Add a cupful of water, salt and pepper and cook until the vegetables are tender. Mix together four tablespoonfuls of flour and a half cupful of milk, add to the vegetables, cook five minutes, beat an egg and add to the mixture. Arrange a ring of cooked spaghetti on a hot dish, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in the oven until the cheese is melted. Serve with the vegetables in the center.

VALENTINE KUHN'S COSTLY TOOTHACHE

Valentine Kuhn's toothache on Wednesday proved rather an expensive one for this morning when he was arraigned before recorder Lang he was sentenced to spend the next thirty days in the county jail, and also to pay $10 for the damage he did as an outcome of the treatment he underwent to cure the ache.

Valentine was employed as a porter at the Hotel Weiner, now conducted by C. J. Paulsen on central Broadway. Wednesday morning his tooth began to ache and to cure it he drank three whiskeys. Just how large a quantity was in each drink he did not state. Later he drank two beers, size also unstated. Evidently the beer and the whiskey did not mix well.

Mr. Paulsen missed a bottle of brandy and also a bottle of wine, which he said was very strong, being some of Mr. Weiner's pure stock. Investigation disclosed the bottle of wine nearly empty hidden behind the heater in the cellar. He reprimanded Valentine for drinking.

At the time Mr. Paulsen stood at the head of the cellar stairs Valentine, who was down in the cellar, became peeved and rushed up to where Mr. Paulsen was standing and punched Mr. Paulsen in the eye. As Valentine was drunk, Mr. Paulsen did not retaliate as he was fearful if he hit Valentine that the latter would fall headlong down the cellar stairs with the prospects of breaking his neck.

Instead of returning the blow Mr. Paulsen went to the telephone and asked for reinforcements in the shape of a policeman. In the meantime Valentine, who was fighting drunk, proceeded to smash several dollars worth of dishes, and also one of the large windows.

Not content with that just as policeman James V. Connelly entered the hotel door Valentine rushed over to where Mr. Paulsen was standing and sent in another smashing blow which caught Mr. Paulsen in the other eye.

Before Valentine could further demonstrate his ability at the fist art he was seized by the officer and hurried to the city lockup.

This morning Mr. Paulsen appeared to press the charge against Valentine. The evidence of the assault Mr. Paulsen carried with him in the form of two black eyes which were highly discolored.

Valentine did not bear a mark on him as a result of the fracas.

After hearing both sides of the affair the recorder imposed the sentence and assessed the damage done by Valentine to the crockery and window at $10. For each black eye sworn by the landlord Valentine received ten days in jail.

Mr. Paulsen informed the court that he owed Valentine $20 back wages and he was instructed to pay Valentine half of the amount due,

$10, and retain the other half to cover damage done by Valentine.

As Mr. Paulsen was leaving the court room Recorder Lang advised him to get help that don't get drunk in the future.

Mr. Paulsen said that this was the first time in twenty years that he had ever had such an experience with his help.

VILLA MAY RAID MADERA RANCH

By Telegram to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., March 16—The Madera Company, Ltd., owner of more than $1,000,000 worth of sawmills and lumber in the Galena district, southwest of Casas Grandes, is to be the next victim of the Villa bandits, according to a dispatch received in El Paso today.

Villa and his men were said to be moving in the direction of Pearson, seat of the company's offices and main plant, after his departure from Corralitos. He apparently took a roundabout route to avoid the Carranza troops at Casas Grandes.

There is little loot to be had at Pearson since most of the population is engaged in work at the mills, but it is believed that loot is a secondary consideration with Villa. His grievance against the company dates back December 20 when he was informed by employees of the company at Madera that they had 3,000 pesos coming to them which they could not collect. Villa went to the head of the company but got no satisfaction. Then he arrested twenty American employees of the company, taking them to Chihuahua City where they were held for ransom. In the meantime, however, Carranza troops advanced upon Chihuahua City and Villa and his men were forced to flee. The captives were released and the ransom is still unpaid.

Just before his raid upon Columbus, Villa is reported to have made the threat that he would wipe out the debt of the Madera Company.

SUPREME KNIGHT TO VISIT K. OF C.

Sunday, March 19, has been designated as Communion Sunday for the members of Kingston Council, No. 275, K. of C. On that day all members of the council are requested to meet at St. Mary's Hall at 7:45 a. m. and march in a body to St. Mary's Church to attend the mass at 8 o'clock. At this mass the members will partake of holy communion. At the conclusion of the mass, the members will return again in a body to St. Mary's Hall, where a communion breakfast will be served. This breakfast will be served at 9 o'clock with an elaborate menu.

The communion breakfast will be the occasion for the appearance before the members of the council of Supreme Knight, Hon. James A. Flaherty, of Philadelphia, Hon. Daniel J. Dugan of Albany, N. Y., and two other speakers who will be announced at the breakfast.

The K. of C. orchestra will furnish music at the breakfast and a male choir under the direction of Prof. Rieser will sing both at the mass and at the breakfast. There will also be one or two solos rendered.

During the mass solos will be rendered by J. E. McCarthy and Thomas Dolan. Kingston's well known soloists, which will add to the solemnity of the service.

The first and second degrees will be exemplified at the K. of C. Home on Sunday, March 19, at two o'clock. The class of candidates will number eighteen.

A regular meeting of the council will be held on Monday evening, March 20, that will be of especial importance to the members. There are many matters to be brought to the attention of the members at this meeting and it is desired that every brother manifest his interest by his presence.

At this meeting a committee on membership will be appointed. The officers of the council expect to have not less than 55 candidates in order that a Major Degree may be exemplified at the Home on Memorial Day.

Supreme Knight Hon. James A. Flaherty of Philadelphia will reach Kingston on Saturday evening, March 18, to join with the members in assisting at mass next morning and to speak later at the Communion Breakfast. It is planned to hold an informal reception to this noted official of the order at the K. of C. Home on Saturday evening between 9 and 9:30 o'clock. This will constitute the opportunity of the individual members of the council to meet and greet personally the executive head of the Knights of Columbus. It is suggested that every member who can so arrange his affairs as to enable him to visit the Home on this Saturday evening, plan to do so and to be introduced to Brother Flaherty.

DIGGING FROM UNDER THE DRIFTS

Wednesday's Baby Blizzard Did No Damage to Wires. Delayed Trains Somewhat and Made Highway Travel Difficult.

Wednesday's baby blizzard showed wonderful development before night-fall, but while roads in all parts of the county were badly drifted conditions are not as serious as they have been from other storms of recent years. Kingston escaped with a heavy snow fall which in places drifted to a height of five or six feet, but trolley traffic was not delayed appreciably and the telephone and telegraph companies escaped the usual storm damage.

Hurley and Rosendale Roads Opened.

The worst drifts are between Kingston and Old Hurley, where previous storms had left drifts through which travel had been difficult. The town superintendent had men and teams at work at an early hour breaking through the drifts and clearing the road. At the time of the previous storm some of the drifts had reached a height of four feet, and the accumulation from Wednesday's storm brought up the height to seven feet in some places.

Seven foot drifts are also encountered on the Rosendale road, but Jacob Huben and other residents had but slight trouble in reaching Kingston this morning, because the drifts occurred in places where it was possible to drive around them by crossing fields.

Big Drifts North of Katrine.

The Saugerties road was badly drifted in the vicinity of Lake Katrine and beyond, and many of the lanes were so blocked that four horses were necessary to be used in getting from farm houses to the main road. At ten o'clock twoleighs had been able to get through to Lake Katrine from the north, but the trip was extremely difficult.

The West Hurley road has many drifts through which it will be hard work to force a passage. Most of these drifts have occurred in places where it is impossible to drive around them, and men employed by the town superintendents were forced to shovel their way through.

Marbletown Blocked Off.

In the vicinity of Marbletown there are numerous drifts which reach an average height of five feet, and up to eleven o'clock this morning nobody from Marbletown had been able to get through to Hurley. South of Hurley for a considerable distance, however, the road was blown clear of everything except the heavy packed snow of earlier storms, and the Mountain road from Hurley, which was almost blocked by the previous storms, escaped any additional blockade on Wednesday.

Plenty of Snow in Kingston.

One of the largest drifts in town was at the junction of Albany and Clinton avenues, where the snow piled to a height of six feet. Drifts of varying height up to four feet occurred in most of the streets, and the uptown business section, through which the trolley cars pass, was rendered impassable after the sidewalk had been shoveled and the snow plow of the railroad has passed through, until the street force at an early hour began carting the snow to the lowlands. Clinton avenue presented some heavy drifts, especially between John and Main streets, and along Albany avenue the storm left much work for shovellers in its wake. Many people all over town had to shovel their way to the trolley tracks.

Warning—Don't Neglect Fire Hydrants.

In the scurry of clearing the walks of snow, property owners are liable to neglect to shovel the snow from the fire hydrants and the board of fire commissioners request them, for their benefit, to do so. It is a matter of only a few minutes and will save much time if fire should occur in the neighborhood, because the firemen in hurrying to answer a call would not be able to locate the vital point.

Ontario & Western Has Slight Delay.

Traffic on the Ontario and Western Railroad branch line from Summitville to Kingston was delayed by the storm considerably. The passenger train which is scheduled to arrive in this city at 9:45 was an hour late, while freight traffic was further impeded by the heavy snow fall. The outgoing train which leaves here at 9:25 was on time. The wires along the line are unhampered and through telegraphic service is being enjoyed despite the strong wind which accompanied the storm. Reports state that freight trains are stalled at various points along the main line of the railroad.

Movie Fiends Not Affected.

The weather Wednesday night did not keep indoors the habitual attendants at the moving picture shows. The first performance at the Kingston opera house played to a house half filled, but the audience was largely augmented by traveling salesmen who were stopping over night at the uptown hotels. The other moving picture shows had proportionately smaller audiences, but there are always a few faithful friends who will brave any weather to see the movies.

The New Ice Company.

The directorate of the newly formed Burns Bros. Ice Corporation was announced Wednesday. It consists of Michael F. Burns, chairman, who is head of the Burns Bros. Coal Company; James W. Scott, S. M. Schatzkin, J. D. Schoonmaker, Robert F. Scott, all of whom have been prominent in the ice business; R. M. Atwater, Jr., representing Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., and James F. Woodward, for Spencer Trask & Co. Holders of stock in Burns Bros. Coal Company have the privilege of subscribing to the Ice Corporation's preferred at $97.50 a share until March 20.

SPRING SPORT SUIT.

For Young Ladies Is This Smart Suit of Toweling.

A 1916 MODEL.

This texture is one of the season's novelties, a polka dotted cotton toweling in blue and white. The skirt is cut with a wide inverted plait to give fullness, while the coat is yoked as well as paneled in front, this portion being buttoned on with novelty pearl buttons. The trim little black straw turban is also smart.

YOUR RUGS.

How Bright Ones May Cheer Up Dark Rooms.

One may select a very bright rug of the oriental order to gladden a room from which the sun is excluded, and according to the colors of the cloth cushions the wall paper is tempered, as are also the mural decorations and the hangings. For the room where repose is sought subdued colors are recommended, and these are to be had in some of the beautiful Persian patterns that go very well with reproductions of eighteenth century English furniture.

When one cannot afford the large rugs and there is doubt of any kind as to the proper carpet it is well to have the floor laid with a perfectly plain color in good quality domestic weave, and thereon spread here and there the small oriental rugs. For an informal room the effect is infinitely more pleasing than when one large rug is used.

The Most Feminine Texture.

The other day a woman said, "If I had a lot of money I'd wear silk all the time." The richness of the material makes it one to be greatly desired and admired, and this season there are so many varieties of silks on the market that one could find a different kind for every day in the week. Crepe meteor is among the many silks to be obtained. It was used in a soft shade of gray for a gown seen a short while ago. Heavily padded embroidery in blue and gray wool was added effectively to ornament the blouse and the skirt.

A novel feature of the skirt was the use of chiffon panels, which were so full that they added extra width to the skirt, which was not very scant before their appearance.

The waist line was very nicely defined by silver rosebuds. The crocheted rings and tassels suspended from the belt were gray. Scalloped formed the hem of the skirt and the abbreviated collar of the blouse.

Timely Tips.

If the dainty crepe de chine blouse shrinks a bit after its first laundering and—as many of these ready made blouses do—becomes just a trifle too scant to cross the bust, the edges at the front may be faced all the way down with similar material and the blouse worn open over a chemise of organdie. These chemisettes in all manner of pretty styles come ready to slip under the bodice, and for the purpose just described the best model is one which opens slightly at the back, kept crisply in position by a bit of stiffening.

Knickerbocker Figs.

Wash half a pound of figs and stuff each with a mixture of pecan nuts and Maraschino cherries, two cherries to three nut meats. Mix a teaspoonful of lemon juice, two tablespoonsful of sugar and half a cupful of sherry in a small saucepan, add the figs, cover and cook slowly until the figs are tender. Let them drain, roll in powdered sugar and put into paper cases if you like.

Harmless.

"Will you have another cup of coffee, Mr. Smith?" asked the landlady. "Yes, thank you, I will," said the new boarder. "My physician advises me to drink plenty of hot water for my indigestion."

Look to the Coffee

"In all cases of so-called neurasthenia, the coffee-drinking of the patient should be inquired into. What has been said about coffee also holds good in regard to tea," says a physician of note.

More and more, people are coming to know that the coffee and tea habits are responsible for a large percentage of those nervous disorders classed under the head of "neurasthenia," or nervous prostration.

Both coffee and tea contain the drug, caffeine, a powerful irritant of the nerves. They also contain tannin—an astringent—which acts most unfavorably upon the intestinal walls. Headache, "nerves," insomnia, biliousness—these are some of the signs of caffeine poisoning.

Many coffee and tea drinkers are learning that the way to health is by quitting coffee and tea; and for a pleasant, healthful drink, using our minds are quite as active as in former years but our strength does not respond when we need it most; perhaps the kidneys are weak, the liver torpid, rheumatic pains or stiffened joints beset us, and we cannot easily throw off the colds that winter brings.

What we need is the rich cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion to renew the blood and carry strength to every organ of the body, while its glycerine soothes the respiratory tract, and its hypophosphites strengthen the excitable nerves.

Scott's Emulsion is a scientific oil-food, of unusual benefit to those past fifty years—particularly during the colder seasons, it imparts warmth and creates strength. One bottle will prove its worth. No alcohol or harmful drugs. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 15-36

GOOD DISHES FOR LENT.

This is the season when we should appreciate our delicious cheese and use it in many combinations with vegetables for the main or chief dish of the meal.

Escalloped Onions With Cheese.—Boil until tender a dozen or more small sized onions, drain carefully and place in a fireproof serving dish, pour over a cupful and a half of thick white sauce, and a cupful of finely chopped cheese, cover with buttered crumbs and place in the oven long enough to brown the crumbs. Too long or too hot a cooking will toughen the cheese.

Lentil Soup.—Wash a half pound of lentils and soak all night in a quart of water. Cut one medium sized onion in small pieces, also one turnip, one carrot and two stalks of celery. Cook these in a tablespoonful of butter for five minutes, add the lentils and water in which they were soaked and one teaspoonful of salt. Boil and skim, then simmer two hours. Rub through a sieve. Return to a saucepan, and bind with two tablespoonfuls of butter and flour with a cupful of milk. Serve at once.

Macaroni With Chestnuts.—Bake twenty chestnuts until soft, then pound in a mortar with pepper, salt and butter. Add a half pound of cooked macaroni, four tablespoonfuls of butter and a tablespoonful of onion juice, if too dry add a little milk, stir in a cupful of grated cheese, heat very hot and serve.

Fricassee of Onions and Potatoes.—Take a dozen small potatoes, peeled, and a half dozen small onions, also peeled. Place in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter and cook five minutes. Add a cupful of water, salt and pepper and cook until the vegetables are tender. Mix together four tablespoonfuls of flour and a half cupful of milk, add to the vegetables, cook five minutes, beat an egg and add to the mixture. Arrange a ring of cooked spaghetti on a hot dish, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in the oven until the cheese is melted. Serve with the vegetables in the center.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAR. 16, 1916.

One day of rest in seven is a good thing but the effort to give everybody the same recreation period on the first day of the week is coming to be an obsession among legislators. Assemblyman N. J. Miller is affected to some degree with the prevailing malady at Albany and has introduced a bill by which teneorial operations on the Sabbath in New York and Saratoga Springs are prohibited. Not only that but Mr. Miller's measure insists that the curtains of every barber shop be drawn during the closed hours in the same manner that the statute provides for saloons, and probably with about as much effect. Of course the comparatively few barbers affected, who may prefer their time off on Sunday rather than during the week, may be pleased at this bill and their patrons be driven to safety first operations amid home surroundings. But the Sunday thus planned for the pleasure of the barber won't be any continental affair as lurking around the corridor of the capitol is a stuffed club in the form of a bill introduced by Assemblyman Prangen who forbids the retailing of ice on Sunday unless on a physician's certificate.

Thus it will be seen that the legislative zeal would provide against the seductions of a highball or other ice-bearing refreshment being presented to the barber or anybody else upon the Sabbath. Statutes already upon the books prevent the barber, with the rest of mankind, from a quiet day's enjoyment fishing, and other blue laws even more restrictive on the pursuit of pleasure can be found with little trouble. And yet the idea is to add to the already superfluous mass of legislation on the statute books by which Sunday is heretofore enjoyed it would otherwise possess for the very persons for whom the law sets it apart as the one day of rest in seven. This tendency to create blue laws is never-ending among members of the legislature, particularly those first year lights in the legislative world whose self-constituted mission it is to reform their fellow men merely through the magical process of passing a law. It is getting so that many workers find more pleasure in a day off falling upon a week day when their privilege to purchase ice or to engage in any other harmless pursuit has as yet been unabridged by the attacks of the guardians of righteousness whose activities are in full flower during sessions of the State Legislature.

It is a matter of common knowledge at Albany that no legislator who has hopes of re-election dare profess friendship for any corporation be it one of the large public service monopolies or the little co-operative marketing bee of a handful of farmers. A bill which more or less accurately reflects this state of mind among the law-makers is that introduced by Assemblyman Joseph, "by request," to prohibit the practice of pharmacy by corporations. "By request" is a phrase which covers a multitude of sins in introductions. The antecedents of this bill are dubious but it is plain that the corporations are the things to be attacked. In its effect, the measure would immediately wipe out of existence hundred of legitimate pharmacies through the State, including several in Kingston, solely because they happen to be corporations. What benefit, if any, would accrue to the public from any such law is problematical in the extreme. This bill, committed to the Committee on Codes, should stay committed for this and succeeding sessions. The fact that a corporation is a child of the state is no reason why it should be spanked without ceasing.

Congress has passed the necessary legislation to put the United States Army on a war footing. This sounds ominous, but what does it mean? Simply that the strength of the army will be recruited from the total strength of 100,000 men now allowed, including 12,000 Philippine scouts, to 119,947 men. The increase is less than 20,000 men, which is just about the number of men who have been patrolling the Mexican border for three years. That is not a large number of men for such a stretch of territory; it is three days' journey along the border from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific. Americans are a peaceable people, who are accustomed to witnessing ordinary fighting being subdued by city police forces, and except for those who served in the war of the Rebellion and the Spanish War we have slight realization of what constitutes fighting in wartime. As a nation we have high ideals and are unduly impressed by the "uplift," for which reason we frame our beliefs to fit our hopes. At the outbreak of the European War our thoughts turned to alleviation of the frightful conditions brought about by the war, and expressed belief that it would not last long, but the war has been under way for nearly twenty months, and we have done nothing to strengthen our own forces or to see that such inadequate forces as we have are brought to a state of efficiency. We are relying on Europe becoming exhausted and on a miraculous uplifting force to show the rest of the world the absurdity of making war on us. But having watched from afar what has transpired in Europe, and even on our own Mexican border, attack is not so much of an absurdity as appears at first blush. "Thrice armed is he whose cause is just," but the advantage is usually in favor of the man who is in condition to strike and does strike the first blow. We should not overlook, however, the advantage of being in condition to ward off subsequent blows.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Her ideal is shattered." "What happened to it?" "She married it."—Detroit Free Press.

"I have many well-defined abstract theories." "That's nothing. I have one good concrete cellar."—Baltimore American.

"So you've been fighting again! Didn't you stop and spell your names, as I told you?" "Y-yes; we did—but my name's Algernon Percival, and his is Jim!"—Judge.

"That fellow pictures the delights of country life so vividly—" "Yes?" "That I am constrained to conclude he wants to sell his place."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Money doesn't always bring happiness." "That may be true enough, but it's one of the things we all prefer to learn by personal experience."—Boston Transcript.

"I understand they want to turn distilleries into munition factories." "It might help, if they do. But it's the old story of the ultimate consumer getting the worst of it."—Washington Star.

He Had Copped Her.

They tell a story in London to the effect that Miss Christabel Pankhurst, the militant suffragette, was distributing flowers and cigarettes among the wounded in a Devonshire hospital one day when she said in some perplexity to a very stalwart guard:

"I'm sure I've met you somewhere. Banded though you are your face is most familiar. I am Miss Pankhurst. Think—haven't we met before?"

The guardsman blushed, cleared his throat and answered from the bed:

"Suppose we let bygones be bygones, miss. I'm a police officer."—New York Times.

No Such Thing.

John L. Sullivan said in a temperance address in Chicago:

"Too many people are like the London navy. In London, you know, the saloons are only open now an hour in the morning, an hour or so at noon, and another hour in the evening. The navy didn't like this."

"No, the navy didn't like it, and he was expressing himself very forcibly about it one night at the Marble Arch, when a stranger said:

"But, friend, the workin' claws need to economize these 'ere war times. Don't you know there's too much money altogether spent on unnecessary beer?"

"Unnecessary beer?" roared the navy. "Unnecessary beer? Why, there ain't no such thing!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Flippancy.

"A flippant answer," said Senator Williams, apropos of a war argument. "This answer is its flippancy," he continued, "reminds me of the coquette to whom a young man, driven to desperation, said:

"If you don't answer me one way or the other—yes or no—I'll hang myself in your front yard."

"Oh, no," said the coquette. "You mustn't do that. Father doesn't like young men hanging about."—Washington Post.

Unavoidable Loss.

When the spinner aunt began to ask questions she always kept at least one person engaged, with little chance for any other word than direct answers.

"What's become of that kitten you had last time I was here?" she demanded of her small nephew. "I hope she wasn't poisoned like the other you had two years ago."

"No, she—"

"Don't tell me she was drowned."

"No, she—"

"Stolen?"

"No, she—"

"Well, I'd like to know what made you give away such a handsome kitten."

"We didn't—she's—"

"Well, what's happened to her—speak up!"

"She's grown into a cat!" gasped the boy.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Often Read the Name.

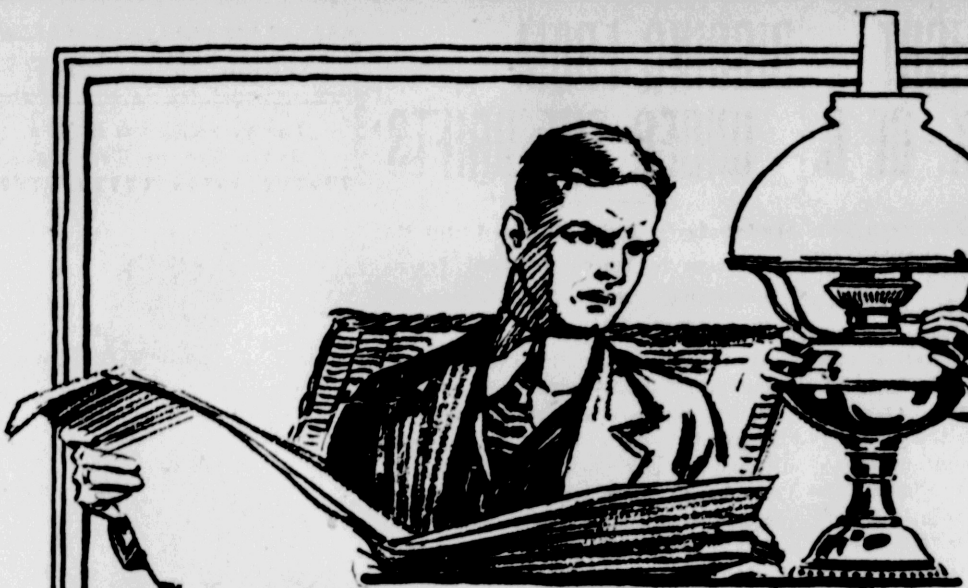

An English school teacher one day took France as the subject of the geography lesson.

"In this terrible war," said she, "who is our principal ally?"

"France," came the chorus.

"Right," said the teacher. "And how can any one of you give me the name of a town in France?"

"Someville," promptly shouted one small boy.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

HOW OFTEN DOES YOUR LAMP NEED CLEANING?

Your lamps, oil cookstove or oil heater will not need cleaning half so often if you fill them with clean, reliable oil—Socony (So-CO-ny) Kerosene Oil.

Very often the lamp is blamed for smoking, smelling and forming wick crust, when it is really due to the use of inferior oil.

Kerosene is not all alike by any means—any more than all butter is alike. Or all flour, or all sugar.

Socony Kerosene Oil is the name of the Standard Oil Company of New York's best kerosene. It is manufactured by improved refining methods, and every gallon conforms to certain fixed standards of quality.

Say "Socony" to the grocer's boy when he comes to take your oil can. Look for the Socony sign on your grocer's window. It is a quality sign and one of the easiest ways to recognize a reliable dealer.

We recommend the following oil burning devices as the best of their kind: New Perfection Oil Cookstoves and Water Heaters. Perfection Smokless Oil Heaters, Rayo Lamps and Lanterns.

Natural Viaduct.

In Argentina there is a natural bridge that is one of the most wonderful in the world. It spans the Rio Mendoza and is known as the Inca bridge. But it is the work of nature, and not, as was popularly supposed, of the Incas. The road on which it occurs was probably a colonial highway made by the Peruvian Incas, who took advantage of the phenomenon by leading their road over this natural viaduct.

Derivation of "King."

Kings in the earliest days were merely the "fathers of families," and the word is derived from the same source as "kin."

Does Your Product Appeal to Women?

If it does you are logically a newspaper advertiser. Women are not only newspaper readers—but close readers of newspaper advertising. Glance through any good newspaper and notice what a large percentage of the advertising is written to women. They are the purchasing agents for the home. Manufacturers interested in getting their products before the women with buying power are invited to write to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

Evidently an Untruth. "That man accuses you of being the greatest grafter on earth." "Yes," replied Senator Sorghum, "but he doesn't mean it. If he believed I was the greatest grafter on earth he'd be right with me in every campaign, trying to get next and make himself useful."

It Sounded Big.

"She talks at different times of 'my maid,' 'my cook' and 'my laundress,'" said the woman with the mackinaw. "Has she actually so many servants?" "No," said the accompanying male person. "She means that her hired girl is a lightning change artist."—Detroit Saturday Night.

Didn't Worry.

"What has become of that Don't Worry club you once helped to organize?" "Everybody refused to worry. The club got in debt and had to disband."—Washington Star.

Extreme Ennui.

"I fear hers is a hopeless case. She's tired of everything." "Everything?" "Yes; even of going to the doctor."—Kansas City Journal.

Cured.

"Bacon lost a lot of money in a big sugar deal. That cured him of speculation." "Sugar cured, so to speak."—Boston Transcript.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, March 16.—Frank TerBush of New York, formerly of this place, is spending the week in town, in order to be in attendance at the Reynolds-Ellsworth wedding in Kingston on Wednesday, and where he performed the duties of "best man."

Mrs. Rose Fischer of New York is spending a short time with Mrs. George F. Kelp at her home on Center street. Mrs. Fischer was formerly one of the Ellenville high school teachers.

Burton Wood of New York is spending the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron C. Wood. A party of ladies went on their annual sleigh ride to Kerhonkson on Monday, and enjoyed a fine chicken dinner at Stokes's Hotel.

Mrs. John Traphagen is filling a vacancy for a week at Watson and Shepley's insurance and real estate office, in the place of Miss Hazel Benson, who is obliged to remain at home on account of the illness of her mother.

A party of our young people of sporting proclivities, went on a snow-shoeing expedition in the wilds of Ulster county, during the week end. After proceeding as far as possible by sleigh, they tramped three miles, on snow shoes, over snow at least three feet deep, to one of the mountain camps in the vicinity of Peekamoose Mountain. All reached the place safely on Monday, very much pleased with their trip. Among the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Schoonmaker, Charles P. Cleveland, Miss Bernice Gaskell and Miss M. Carman.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gaskell very pleasantly entertained their friends on Tuesday evening with an evening of games. After the games were finished very fine refreshments were served by the hostess.

The ladies of the W. C. T. W., with their husbands, gave a farewell reception to Mrs. George F. Kelp at her home on Center street on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. George Kelp are soon to leave Ellenville for their new home in Pine Bush, Orange county.

Mrs. Howard Dutcher entertained the Whist Club on Tuesday afternoon at her pleasant home on Warren street.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. R. T. Cookingham will entertain the Thimble Club at her home on South Main street.

The Junior Endeavorers of the Reformed Church held a very pleasant social on Tuesday evening. The juveniles all said they had a delightful time.

Mrs. Mary Grimley has the misfortune to be one of the latest victims of the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smiley have returned home from Mt. Clemens, Mich., where Mr. Smiley has been taking the baths and treatment for rheumatism. He has not improved as much as he hoped and expected that he should, but perhaps some of the beneficial results of the treatment will develop later.

Excelsior Hose Dance.

What promises to be one of the biggest social events of the season will take place on Friday evening, St. Patrick's night, at the Excelsior Hose Company's engine rooms on Hurley avenue, when the Excelsior fire laddies will hold their annual masquerade ball and reception. These annual events are looked forward to by many Kingstonsians as the best social functions of the year. Each year draws bigger crowds, and the usual jolly good time is assured when the date of the affair is set. The committee have decided to allow persons who do not wish to mask the privilege to dance with the masqueraders, but they will not be allowed to take part in the grand march, which will be held at 10 o'clock. This number is well worth the admission alone as the costumes of the masqueraders are always smart and stunning. A number of Excelsior fire laddies' friends and sweethearts from Ellenville, Saugerties and Rosendale will attend as when they come they are always out to win for their home towns, and their rivalry runs to the limit. Everything has been completed for Friday night and of the "biggest times of your life" is assured all who attend. Dancing will begin at 8 o'clock and will continue until daybreak. All tickets sold by members for their weekly dances will be accepted at the door for this event. Tickets also may be secured at the door.

Dr. Bell at East Kingston.

The need of co-operation as the essential factor in church work was eloquently pointed out in a powerful sermon preached by the Rev. Richard E. Bell, D. D., superintendent of the Kingston District in the East Kingston M. E. Church, last Sunday. Just before the church service, Dr. Bell gave an interesting address to the Sunday school. Dr. Bell, who is one of the really great men of our conference, was not only glad to preach at this service, but also offered to walk from Kingston to the East Kingston Church and return. However, through the courtesy of Myron Teller, who provided a rig, with Mr. Taylor and son as drivers, the walk was not necessary. A feature of the Sunday school service was the distribution to the scholars of a lot of interesting literatures which was donated by Mrs. James Brink.

Lent at St. John's Church.

The Lenten season is growing in popularity. Many religious bodies are growing more aware of the helpfulness of this season for the soul's remaking. There is in man a soul that needs constant recreation. A spirit that calls for holy days with as much insistence as the body and mind call for holidays. Lent is a period of quiet concentration. A brief service is held St. John's Church every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Friday night at 7:30, the Rev. W. F. Kleinschmidt, who recently conducted the mission will be the preacher. Holy Communion every Wednesday at 10 a. m. Confirmation class Friday at 4 p. m.

KENTUCKY COLONELS.

In the Nature of Things They Simply Can't Help Being Numerous.

In the south especially and in Kentucky more especially a man becomes a colonel at about forty-seven unless he is of a willful, rebellious, obstreperous disposition and inclined to stand up for an admitted but rarely exercised right not to become known as "colonel." A man who is not sudden and quick in quarrels and who can be put upon cannot escape becoming "colonel." Many men whose courage is unquestioned prefer not to engage in street fights in opposition to an established custom. It is the rule rather than the exception to submit good naturedly or with concealed impatience when the first three gray hairs appear at the temples and the use of the title begins by popular consent.

There are, of course, many colonels under forty. When a governor is inaugurated he has the power to appoint staff colonels. A governor who does not appoint as colonels such of his constituents as he knows by name is lacking in the punctiliousness which distinguishes the practical politician. Thus many young men who would have been "lieutenants" if they had adopted a military career are made colonels in civil life. Another predisposing cause of premature colonelcy is the tendency of some men to become fat early in life. A man who measures as much as forty inches at the waist line and has not been convicted of felony is entitled, even obliged, to be called "colonel" before he is forty.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Carved by Newton.

In the Newton chapel of the church at Colsterworth, in Lincolnshire, England, where Sir Isaac Newton was born, is to be seen one of the most interesting relics of the greatest of philosophers. It consists of a sundial and was carved by Newton when he was a boy on a stone in the house in which he was born, his only tool being a pen-knife. There it remained for many years until removed to Colsterworth church. Unfortunately the organ has been built directly in front of this interesting relic, so that unless one knows of the stone's existence and its presence in the church it is overlooked.

Nelson's Message.

In a book called "National Humor" a serious footnote states that Nelson's celebrated message, "England expects each man to do his duty," was phrased by the famous admiral as "Nelson expects," etc., and that one of his officers suggested the change of the first word to "England." Nelson's greatness was evident in his immediate acceptance of the change. A smaller man would have felt insulted at the proposed elimination of his own name.

Just So.

"I am on the scent of success."
"What are you doing?"
"Raising onions."

Must Be Well Fed.

The phrase "The shortest road to a man's heart is through his stomach" is by no means a modern saying. It has been true throughout the history of mankind, and although intended to be a joke, it is in reality no reflection on masculinity. A man with a poorly fed stomach can rarely be found to have a disposition inclined even to kind thoughts, much less to love.

Refreshing Drink.

Add a pinch of salt to a half glass of sour cream and a half glass of rich milk, and beat with an eggbeater until light and smooth. Pour into a tall glass, and over the top put a thin coating of pulverized nut meats and a scant grating of nutmeg. Serve cold with crackers.

VALENTINE KUHN'S COSTLY TOOTHACHE

Valentine Kuhn's toothache on Wednesday proved rather an expensive one for this morning when he was arraigned before recorder Lang he was sentenced to spend the next thirty days in the county jail, and also to pay $10 for the damage he did as an outcome of the treatment he underwent to cure the ache.

Valentine was employed as a porter at the Hotel Weiner, now conducted by C. J. Paulsen on central Broadway. Wednesday morning in his tooth began to ache and to cure it he drank three whiskies. Just how large a quantity was in each drink he did not state. Later he drank two beers, size also unstated. Evidently the beer and the whiskey did not mix well.

Mr. Paulsen missed a bottle of brandy and also a bottle of wine, which he said was very strong, being some of Mr. Weiner's pure stock. Investigation disclosed the bottle of wine nearly empty hidden behind the heater in the cellar. He reprimanded Valentine for drinking.

At the time Mr. Paulsen stood at the head of the cellar stairs, Valentine, who was down in the cellar, became peeved and rushed up to where Mr. Paulsen was standing and punched Mr. Paulsen in the eye. As Valentine was drunk, Mr. Paulsen did not retaliate as he was fearful if he hit Valentine that the latter would hit headlong down the cellar stairs with the prospect of breaking his neck.

Instead of returning the blow Mr. Paulsen went to the telephone and asked for reinforcements in the shape of a policeman. In the meantime Valentine, who was fighting drunk, proceeded to smash several dollars worth of dishes, and also one of the large windows.

Not content with that just as policeman James V. Connelly entered the hotel door Valentine rushed over to where Mr. Paulsen was standing and sent in another smashing blow which caught Mr. Paulsen in the other eye.

Before Valentine could further demonstrate his ability at the fist art he was seized by the officer and hurried to the city lockup.

This morning Mr. Paulsen appeared to press the charge against Valentine. The evidence of the assault, Mr. Paulsen carried with him in the form of two black eyes which were likely discolored.

Valentine did not bear a mark on him as a result of the fracas.

After hearing both sides of the affair the recorder imposed the sentence and assessed the damage done Valentine to the crockery and window at $10. For each black eye born by the landlord Valentine received ten days in jail.

Mr. Paulsen informed the court that he owed Valentine $20 back—more and he was instructed to pay Valentine half of the amount due.

$10, and retain the other half to cover damage done by Valentine. As Mr. Paulsen was leaving the court room Recorder Lang advised him to get help that don't get drunk in the future.

VILLA MAY RAID MADERA RANCH

By Telegram to The Freeman.
El Paso, Tex., March 16—The Madera Company, Ltd., owner of more than $1,000,000 worth of sawmills and lumber in the Galena district, southwest of Casas Grandes, is to be the next victim of the Villa bandits, according to a dispatch received in El Paso today.

Villa and his men were said to be moving in the direction of Pearson, seat of the company's offices and main plant, after his departure from Corralitos. He apparently took a roundabout route to avoid the Carranza troops at Casas Grandes.

There is little loot to be had at Pearson since most of the population is engaged in work at the mills, but it is believed that loot is a secondary consideration with Villa. His grievance against the company dates back December 20 when he was informed by employees of the company at Madera that they had 3,000 pesos coming to them which they could not collect.

Villa went to the head of the company but got no satisfaction. Then he arrested twenty American employees of the company, taking them to Chihuahua City where they were held for ransom. In the meantime however, Carranzista troops advanced upon Chihuahua City and Villa and his men were forced to flee. The captives were released and the ransom is still unpaid. Just before his raid upon Columbus, Villa is reported to have made the threat that he would wipe out the debt of the Madera Company.

SUPREME KNIGHT TO VISIT K. OF C.

Sunday, March 13, has been designated as Communion Sunday for the members of Kingston Council, No. 275, K. of C. On that day all members of the council are requested to meet at St. Mary's Hall at 7:45 a. m. and march in a body to St. Mary's Church to attend the mass at 8 o'clock. At this mass the members will partake of holy communion. At the conclusion of the mass, the members will return again in a body to St. Mary's Hall, where a communion breakfast will be served. This breakfast will be served at 9 o'clock with an elaborate menu.

The communion breakfast will be the occasion for the appearance before the members of the council of Supreme Knight Hon. James A. Flaherty, of Philadelphia, Hon. Daniel J. Bugan of Albany, N. Y., and two other speakers who will be announced at the breakfast.

The K. of C. orchestra will furnish music at the breakfast and a male choir under the direction of Prof. Rieser will sing both at the mass and at the breakfast. There will also be one or two solos rendered.

During the mass solos will be rendered by J. E. McCarthy and Thomas Dolan. Kingston's well known soloists, which will add to the solemnity of the service.

The first and second degrees will be exemplified at the K. of C. Home on Sunday, March 13, at two o'clock. The class of candidates will number eighteen.

A regular meeting of the council will be held on Monday evening, March 20, that will be of especial importance to the members. There are many matters to be brought to the attention of the members at this meeting and it is desired that every brother manifest his interest by his presence.

At this meeting a committee on membership will be appointed. The officers of the council expect to have not less than 55 candidates in order that a Major Degree may be exemplified at the Home on Memorial Day.

Supreme Knight Hon. James A. Flaherty of Philadelphia will reach Kingston on Saturday evening, March 18, to join with the members in assisting at mass next morning and to speak later at the Communion Breakfast. It is planned to hold an informal reception to this noted official of the order at the K. of C. Home on Saturday evening between 9 and 9:30 o'clock. This will constitute the opportunity of the individual members of the council to meet and greet personally the executive head of the Knights of Columbus. It is suggested that every member who can so arrange his affairs as to enable him to visit the Home on this Saturday evening, plan to do so and to be introduced to Brother Flaherty.

DIGGING FROM UNDER THE DRIFTS

Wednesday's Baby Blizzard Did No Damage to Wires, Delayed Trains Somewhat and Made Highway Travel Difficult.

Wednesday's baby blizzard showed wonderful development before night-fall, but while roads in all parts of the county were badly drifted conditions are not as serious as they have been from other storms of recent years. Kingston escaped with a heavy snow fall which in places drifted to a height of five or six feet, but trolley traffic was not delayed appreciably and the telephone and telegraph companies escaped the usual storm damage.

Hurley and Rosendale Roads Opened.

The worst drifts are between Kingston and Old Hurley, where previous storms had left drifts through which travel had been difficult. The town superintendent had men and teams at work at an early hour breaking through the drifts and clearing the road. At the time of the previous storm some of the drifts had reached a height of four feet, and the accumulation from Wednesday's storm brought up the height to seven feet in some places.

Seven foot drifts are also encountered on the Rosendale road, but Jacob Huben and other residents had but slight trouble in reaching Kingston this morning, because the drifts occurred in places where it was possible to drive around them by crossing fields.

Big Drifts South of Katrine.

The Saugerties road was badly drifted in the vicinity of Lake Katrine and beyond, and many of the lanes were so blocked that four horses were necessary to be used in getting from farm houses to the main road. At ten o'clock two sleighs had been able to get through to Lake Katrine from the north, but the trip was extremely difficult.

The West Hurley road has many drifts through which it will be hard work to force a passage. Most of these drifts have occurred in places where it is impossible to drive around them, and men employed by the town superintendents were forced to shovel their way through.

Marbletown Blocked Off.

In the vicinity of Marbletown there are numerous drifts which reach an average height of five feet, and up to eleven o'clock this morning nobody from Marbletown had been able to get through to Hurley South of Hurley for a considerable distance, however, the road was blown clear of everything except the heavy packed snow of earlier storms, and the Mountain road from Hurley, which was almost blocked by the previous storms, escaped any additional blockade on Wednesday.

Plenty of Snow in Kingston.

One of the largest drifts in town was at the junction of Albany and Clinton avenues, where the snow piled to a height of six feet. Drifts of varying height up to four feet occurred in most of the streets, and the uptown business section, through which the trolley cars pass, was rendered impassable after the sidewalk had been shoveled and the snow plow of the railroad has passed through, until the street was free at an early hour began cutting the snow to the lowlands. Clinton avenue presented some heavy drifts, especially between John and Main streets, and along Albany avenue the storm left much work for shovelers in its wake. Many people all over town had to shovel their way to the trolley tracks.

Warning—Don't Neglect Fire Hydrants.

In the hurry of clearing the walks of snow, property owners are liable to neglect to shovel the snow from the fire hydrants and the board of fire commissioners request them, for their benefit, to do so. It is a matter of only a few minutes and will save much time if fire should occur in the neighborhood, because the firemen in hurrying to answer a call would not be able to locate the vital point.

Ontario & Western Has Slight Delay.

Traffic on the Ontario and Western Railroad branch line from Summitville to Kingston was delayed by the storm considerably. The passenger train which is scheduled to arrive in this city at 9:45 was an hour late, while freight traffic was further impeded by the heavy snow fall. The outgoing train which leaves here at 9:25 was on time. The wires along the line are unhampered and through telegraphic service is being enjoyed despite the strong wind which accompanied the storm. Reports state that freight trains are stalled at various points along the main line of the railroad.

Movie Fiends Not Affected.

The weather Wednesday night did not keep indoors the habitual attendants at the moving picture shows. The first performance at the Kingston opera house played to a house half filled, but the audience was largely augmented by traveling salesmen who were stopping over night at the uptown hotels. The other moving picture shows had proportionately smaller audiences, but there are always a few faithful fiends who will brave any weather to see the movies.

The New Ice Company.

The directorate of the newly formed Burns Bros. Ice Corporation has announced Wednesday. It consists of Michael F. Burns, chairman, who is head of the Burns Bros. Coal Company; James W. Scott, S. M. Schatzkin, J. D. Schoonmaker, Robert F. Scott, all of whom have been prominent in the ice business; R. M. Atwater, Jr., representing Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., and James F. Woodward, for Spencer Trask & Co. Holders of stock in Burns Bros. Coal Company have the privilege of subscribing to the Ice Corporation's preferred at $37.50 a share until March 20.

SPRING SPORT SUIT.

A 1916 MODEL.

This texture is one of the season's novelties, a polka dotted cotton twill in blue and white. The skirt is cut with a wide inverted pleat to give fullness, while the coat is yoked as well as paneled in front, this portion being buttoned on with novelty pearl buttons. The trim little black straw turban is also smart.

YOUR RUGS.

How Bright Ones May Cheer Up Dark Rooms.

One may select a very bright rug of the oriental order to gladden a room from which the sun is excluded, and according to the colors of the cloth cushions the wall paper is tempered, as are also the mural decorations and the hangings. For the room where repose is sought subdued colors are recommended, and these are to be had in some of the beautiful Persian patterns that go very well with reproductions of eighteenth century English furniture.

When one cannot afford the large rugs and there is doubt of any kind as to the proper carpet it is well to have the floor laid with a perfectly plain color in good quality domestic weave, and thereon spread here and there the small oriental rugs. For an informal room the effect is infinitely more pleasing than when one large rug is used.

The Most Feminine Texture.

The other day a woman said, "If I had a lot of money I'd wear silk all the time." The richness of the material makes it one to be greatly desired and admired, and this season there are so many varieties of silks on the market that one could find a different kind for every day in the week. Crepe meteor is among the many silks to be obtained. It was used in a soft shade of gray for a gown seen a short while ago. Heavily padded embroidery in blue and gray wool was added effectively to ornament the blouse and the skirt.

A novel feature of the skirt was the use of chiffon panels, which were so full that they added extra width to the skirt, which was not very scant before their appearance.

The waist line was very nicely defined by silver rosebuds. The crocheted rings and tassels suspended from the belt were gray. Sea-shell formed the hem of the skirt and the abbreviated collar of the blouse.

Timely Tips.

If the dainty crepe de chine blouse shrinks a bit after its first laundering, and as many of these ready made blouses do—becomes just a trifle too scant to cross the bust, the edges at the front may be faced all the way down with similar material and the blouse worn open over a chemise of organdy. These chemisettes in all manner of pretty styles come ready to slip under the blouse, and for the purpose just described the best model is one which opens slightly at the back, kept crisply in position by a bit of stiffening.

Knicker-bocker Figs.

Wash half a pound of figs and stuff each with a mixture of pecan nuts and Maraschino cherries, two cherries to three nut meats. Mix a teaspoonful of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and half a cupful of sherry in a small saucepan, add the figs, cover and cook slowly until the figs are tender. Let them drain, roll in powdered sugar and put into paper cases if you like.

Harmless.

"Will you have another cup of coffee, Mr. Smith?" asked the landlady. "Yes, thank you, I will," said the new boarder. "My physician advises me to drink plenty of hot water for my indigestion."

Look to the Coffee

"In all cases of so-called neurasthenia, the coffee-drinking of the patient should be inquired into. What has been said about coffee also holds good in regard to tea," says a physician of note.

More and more, people are coming to know that the coffee and tea habits are responsible for a large percentage of those nervous disorders classed under the head of "neurasthenia," or nervous prostration.

Both coffee and tea contain the drug, caffeine, a powerful irritant of the nerves. They also contain tannin—an astringent—which acts most unfavorably upon the intestinal walls. Headache, "nerves," insomnia, biliousness—these are some of the signs of caffeine poisoning.

Many coffee and tea drinkers are learning that the way to health is by quitting coffee and tea; and for a pleasant, healthful drink, using

MAIMED SOLDIER, BEARING TO USE ARTIFICIAL ARM.

ORGANIZED EFFORTS TO TEACH TRADES TO MAIMED SOLDIERS.

One of the most important of the several relief works under way for the benefit of soldiers wounded in the war is now in progress in France, and, though willing agents, also in the United States. This is the organized effort to provide training in suitable trades for the maimed soldiers of the French republic.

An appeal for help for the American committee having the relief work in charge here has been issued by Mrs. Edmund L. Baylies, its chairman. The work is under the official patronage of the president of France. What the movement is accomplishing and hopes still more to accomplish has been set forth by Arthur Gleason, one of those identified with it.

"A society has been formed in France to save these men," says Mr. Gleason. "For $100 a maimed man can be supported and educated into a worker who will carry himself. Such trades are already taught as basket-making, carpentry, glass work, photography, shoemaking, tailoring, instrument making, watch making, tinware, bookkeeping, shorthand, etc.

Mr. Smith of Bay Ridge, N. Y., has visited his sister, Mrs. L. W. Craft.

Mr. and Mrs. Westervelt Clark of Milton made an evening call in this neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. William Woolsey and family, including Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Woolsey, all of Highland, visited Mr. and Mrs. Milton Odell one evening last week.

Charles Best, who is working for T. B. Odell, is going to move with his family to a farm near Clintondale next month.

Charles Weed is delivering wood from the mountains for C. H. Mackey.

William Best of Plattkill is delivering hay in this section and beyond, hay being 23 and 24 dollars per ton, and rye straw, $14.

Skating is a pleasure of the past in this vicinity as the heavy fall of snow has completely covered the large ice field or rural rink.

James Weed has purchased two hogs of a farmer near Modena for $64, which is a record price.

If fruit plants could produce the value that munition plants do farming would become immediately attractive.

The Mexican civil war muddle will no doubt be settled finally by Americanism which could have been done in all probability in the beginning of the unhappy struggle for government supremacy in that country.

Yawning.

Yawning is a peculiar act and one that has never yet been properly accounted for. It is not by any means a sign of fatigue only, although it is sometimes produced by overexertion. But an attack of yawning comes on much more quickly if one is intensely bored, and certainly a stuffy atmosphere tends to produce it. It is also noticeable that when one has gone considerably past one's mealtime the tendency to yawn frequently becomes irresistible. A very peculiar feature of this complaint is its infectiousness; one person can easily set half a dozen all yawning in turn. When present in a very marked extent it is supposed to be the outcome of anaemia, indigestion or some other complaint.

Real Sympathy.

An old farmer down the country giving instructions for his will directed a legacy of $25,000 to be given to his wife. Being informed that some distinction was usually made in case the widow married again, he doubled the sum, and when told that this was contrary to custom he said, with heartfelt sympathy for his possible successor, "Aye, but him that gets her'll deserve it."

The Flight of Birds.

One of the few men to recover sight after being blind from the birth of recollection was reported to have wondered at nothing so much as the flight of the birds. "Why do not people make more fuss about them?" he said.—London Outlook.

HER BORROWED ROBE.

It Brought an Actress the Most Perilous Moment of Her Life.

"The only time I ever was a thief saved my life," said Rose Coghlan once. "My sister-in-law, Louisa Thornton, was playing in 'Colleen Bawn' in Scotland. I was Anne Chute, one of the bridesmaids, and I always dressed in Louisa's room with her.

"This particular night she was ill, and her understudy went on. Now, it happened that I had longed and longed to wear a certain costume of Louisa's. It wasn't one bit suitable for a girl of my age in a bridesmaid part, being made of heavy white corded silk with a long court train and all the fixings, but I adored it.

"I dressed up in it and went out to wait for the cue with the other girls. Just as we were ready to go on some one behind me said, 'Rose, your dress is on fire!'

"I think that is the most fearful word that can sound in a theater—'Fire!' My train had caught fire from one of the little gas footlights, unprotected then.

"The girls in their light dresses were trying to get away from me, and the nearest man, Hardress, was handcuffed. I crushed my train in my hands to smother the creeping flame and backed off down the steps under the stage. A man down there threw a heavy cloak over me, and I fainted. I was burned badly around my hands and arms and neck, but the heavy silk dress saved me."—New York World.

The Tyrant in the Field.

There have been few commanders so tyrannical as Lopez, the dictator of Paraguay, when in the war of 1865-70 it fought single handed the neighboring countries of Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay. Lopez, says Mr. W. H. Koebel in his "Argentina," was wont to carry the theory of victory or death to an uncomfortable point. "Officers were executed for mere remarks whose tone fell beneath the standard of confidence that Lopez had set up for himself. One, for instance was shot for having announced in the course of his duty that the enemy was strongly intrenched! Another met his end on account of an unguarded speech to the effect that the Paraguayan army was accustomed to count the enemy's losses and forget its own."

An Interesting Suite of Dining-Room Furniture

You have certainly heard of---and probably read---Charles Major's delightful story "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."

The story is founded on fact, for about 1575, Dorothy Vernon was one of England's most famous beauties, and lived at Haddon Hall---which stands today in Derbyshire, England, little changed after all these years.

We have just purchased the "Dorothy Vernon" Dining-room Suite, a reproduction of the Jacobean period.

See this in our show window.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

The junior class has now fully decided to give a light comedy entitled
"A Case of Suspension," and will probably give a short scene from one of Dicken's novels at the same time.
The date for this entertainment has been set for Wednesday, April 19, instead of the following Thursday as formerly arranged. The latter date is the last day of school before the Easter vacation and would be preferable on that account were it not that it is Holy Thursday. The junior class does not intend to give a deep play this season and refer their friends to the senior play coming the next week, if they wish to see what the high school students can do with serious drama. But the junior entertainment will be full of laughs which will be well worth the small admission of 15 cents which they intend to charge.

The minstrels are progressing rapidly and nearly every afternoon the practicing chorus fill the school with the sound of their voices. This show will be presented a week from Friday evening, and will no doubt draw a large audience as it is the first entertainment of this nature to be given in the school this season.

Friday afternoon, March 17, the seniors will play a double header against the juniors in basketball.
The boys will play first at 3:15 and their game will be immediately followed by the girls game. This is expected to be a general happy-go-lucky affair, and it is hoped that it will do much to awaken the school spirit in the high school, which seems to be present although very dormant.
The students are very active in their activities, but the relationship that existed between the two old schools and their respective pupils has not yet put in its appearance in the new building. The students do not expect that the love of alma mater that has taken years to grow could be transplanted in one term, but some of them feel that there is not the spirit shown which the high school's prowess in intellectual attainments, athletics, social activities and so forth merits.

Those who follow the athletic reports will remember that the Mid-gets of the high school received their first defeat of the season in Hudson at the hands of the Hudson Juniors last Saturday. Well, they were not satisfied with being beaten once by these up-river boys so they have asked them to come down here this Saturday and try to do it again. The game will begin at 3 o'clock in the high school gymnasium, and the Mid-gets will charge 10 cents admission to defray the traveling expenses of the visiting team.

GRANITE.

Granite, March 16.—An entertainment will be given in the M. E.
Church March 21. If stormy, next fair night. The play is entitled "My Awful Aunt." Ice cream and cake will be served after the entertainment.

Only one more Sunday before conference, but we are all hoping for the return of our pastor, the Rev.
Mr. Pryne.

Sarah Decker, the past week, has returned to her home in Allgerville.

ers at Charles Terwilliger's at Ker-honkson Sunday.

The cold weather still prevails here. Householders who have had to shovel snow devoutly hope this will be the last snow of the season.
24, will be observed by the weatherman and that the storm of Wednesday will be the last of the season.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, March 16.—Evangelistic meetings are being held each evening at the Reformed Church,
the Rev. M. Walter, of Richboro, occurred at Mrs. E. D. Markle's.

With the prompt help of E. B. Hendrickson and other neighbors with ladders it was quickly extinguished.

Mrs. S. E. Churchwell returned home on Thursday from a pleasant stay at Ellenville. It is doubtful if she could have reached this place from Accord, had it not been for Jesse Osterhoudt, who was at that place, and with whom she rode up.

William Wood, who has been seriously ill, is slowly improving.

Elmer B. Hendrickson leaves this week for a lucrative out of town position. We wish him the best of luck in his new surroundings.

ers at Charles B. Osterhoudt's on Sunday evening.

Among those who were in Ker-honkson on Saturday were: Ernest
Baker, James H. Wood, Charles

Bell, Jesse Enderly and Miss Eliza
Bell. Some were there in the interests of positions for the coming summer months.

Jesse Osterhoudt and Eli Oster-houdt were the ones who conveyed the loads to church on Monday evening.

Miss Rissa L. Depuy returned home on Monday, after a winter spent at Briarcliff Manor. Glad to have her among us again.

The SAFETY POINT

By Dr. Frank Crane

The railroad needs money not only to pay the expenses of hauling passengers and freight.

It costs millions more to keep the right of way and rolling stock in condition.

It takes tens of millions in addition to supply steel cars, new safety appliances and other modern facilities and comforts demanded by the public.

Keep the earnings down below a certain point and the railroads will be unable to meet this constant demand.

SPECIAL TRAINS TO AUTO SHOW

Special trains on all the railroads have been arranged for Governor's Night of the auto show. These trains will convey the out of town people coming to hear Governor Whitman speak at the opening night of the show and attend the exhibition. Because of the wide radius covered by the four railroads, the trade extension committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which has charge of this department of the work, feel especially fortunate to secure the special trains to carry the people to their respective stations at night. The trains will probably leave Kingston at 10 p. m., thus allowing the people to hear the governor's speech, attend the show and partake of the bargains to be offered by the local merchants.

Announcement has been of the excursion rates which the Ulster and Delaware Railroad has offered for Thursday, the first day of the show, but two weeks away. A large number of the out of town people will probably come from the country covered by this railroad.

G. L. Robertson, general passenger agent of the Ontario and Western Railroad, has agreed to give a special train on his railroad going as far as Middletown and leaving here at 10 o'clock on Governor's Night. A large territory lies between Kingston and Middletown and many will probably come from this country. The matter of rates is still under consideration. J. E. Canfield, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, in behalf of the trade extension committee, negotiated with Mr. Robertson about the special train. Mr. Canfield has also been communicating with Clarence C. Howard, of the New York Central lines, and he has practically assured Mr. Canfield that there would be a special south bound train on the West Shore leaving here after the governor's speech and stopping at all stations between here and Newburgh. It was practically assured that train No. 23, 14, leaving Kingston at 10:22, would stop at most of the stations between here and Newburgh. Mr. Howard promised a special train on the Wallkill Valley division, stopping at all points between Kingston and Walden or Wallkill. The matters unsettled are the rates and stations at which the train will stop.

SOCIETY NOTES.

On Monday evening a surprise party was given Howard Ellsworth, at his home, 14 Wilbur avenue in honor of his birthday. Twenty-four guests passed a most enjoyable evening which concluded with refreshments and numerous wishes for many happy returns of the occasion.

Olstad-Hines.

At the Lutheran parsonage, Livingston street, Saugerties, Tuesday, March 14, Rev. George T. Hinz united in marriage Arthur L. Olstad of Minneapolis, Minn., and Miss Lilian M. Hines of Malden.

Wynkoop-Crittenden.

On Monday evening, March 13, at the home of the bride's parents in Centerville, Rev. Henry I. Hoag performed the marriage ceremony of Charles Wynkoop of Chatham and Jane Crittenden of Centerville.

Gem Society entertainment.

The members of the Gem Society of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will on Wednesday evening next, March 22, give a clever and enjoyable entertainment entitled, "Squire Judkin's Apple Box." The society would appreciate the presence of a large audience and promise all a delightful evening.

Invited to Saugerties.

The members of the Kingston Monday Club, the Lowell Club, and Mrs. C. K. Moulton, president of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, were invited by the members of the Saugerties Monday Club to be their guests this afternoon, when Mrs. Shuler, former president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, will speak on "Clives."

Federation Meeting Postponed.

The regular meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs, which is usually, though not necessarily, held on the third Thursday morning of each month, was postponed until next week Thursday morning, March 23, owing to the impassable condition of many streets this morning at the hour when the meeting would open. All members of the executive committee are asked to keep in mind the fact that the meeting, which will be an important one, will be held next week Thursday morning.

Kingston Women at Albany.

Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, chairman of the Third District Branch of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, Charles K. Moulton, president of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs and Mrs. W. E. Simmons of Kingston attended the meeting of the Third District Branch, held at the Historical Building, Washington avenue, Albany, on Wednesday. In spite of the blizzard there was an excellent attendance. The reports given by the various federations included in this section were all full of interest, this being one of the strongest district branches in the state. During the session Mrs. Anne P. L. Field spoke on "Prison reform."

Surprise Party at Bloomington.

A very pleasant surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith on Tuesday evening, the occasion being to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Smith, who was very much surprised when a little after 8 o'clock, several of his friends walked in to wish him many happy returns of the day. The evening was well spent in playing games and listening to the music which was furnished for the occasion by the Bloomington orchestra. The selections which consisted of the popular songs, were well rendered and were greatly applauded and highly appreciated by all present. At midnight a buffet luncheon was served, the greatest attraction of that, being the birthday cake which was lit up with candles as a reminder of each year spent. It was very beautiful to the eye and very palatable to the taste. At a late hour the guests departed, after having expressed their pleasure in helping Mr. Smith to celebrate his birthday in such a pleasant way.

The Blue Ribbon Club of this city will hold another of their popular Saturday night dances at Griffith's Hall on Hasbrouck avenue this coming Saturday evening. Owing to McLean's orchestra having been engaged to play at the armory on last Saturday evening and not desiring to run opposition to the dance at the armory, no dance was held, which gave rise to a rumor that the series were to be discontinued for the season. The club members have no intention of stopping the series at present, as each dance held up to the present time has been a social success, and also a financial one, and it would not be policy to stop the series in the midst of such unforeseen success. When the series was first started it was intended to have only two or three affairs, but a continued demand on the part of the patrons, made it necessary for the club to keep on having a regular weekly dance. Just as soon as the public tires of the affairs they will be immediately discontinued. As usual McLean's popular orchestra will furnish the music, playing all of the latest and popular airs. Dancing will be held from eight until twelve o'clock.

Dates of Post Jubilee Lectures.

All of the dates and places of meeting for the three remaining Post Jubilee Lectures are now ready for announcement and are as follows: On Wednesday evening, March 23, Mrs. W. A. Montgomery, who is author of "Western Women in Eastern Lands," "Island Worlds of the Pacific," "The King's Highway," (notably mission study books), is better known as Helen Barrett Montgomery, will lecture on "A Trip Around the World," at the First Reformed Dutch Church.

On Friday evening, April 14, Bishop Homer C. Stuntz, who has been at the head of a conference in South America and has just returned, will speak on "South America," a subject on which he is pre-eminently well fitted to speak. In addition to the first hand knowledge which he will be able to give, he is said to be a captivating speaker, having delivered an address on "The Philippines," before the Holland Society which was more than enthusiastic over Bishop Stuntz as a lecturer. This lecture will be given in the St. James M. E. Church.

Dr. Edward A. Steiner will be the last lecturer. On Friday evening, May 12, Dr. Steiner will speak in the First Dutch Church on "The Struggle for Brotherhood." He is too well known and too popular to need further introduction.

New Trustee for Symphony Society.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Symphony Society, held at Symphony Hall on Sunday afternoon last, Ezra A. Abrams was elected a trustee of the organization, and on his acceptance of the trusteeship, was further elected financial secretary. Mr. Abrams's affiliation with the Symphony Society will be a great advantage to the society, as he is recognized as a young man of unusual business ability and astuteness, and furthermore is heartily interested in all that goes to make of Kingston a progressive and prosperous city. Appreciating the real artistic worth and cultural advantage of his organization to the city and vicinity, Mr. Abrams has been for some time so much interested in its success that he is now willing to give of his time and effort toward the promotion of its best interests.

It is expected that arrangements will be completed this week for the holding of another spring festival this coming May or June, and an announcement will very soon be made in The Freeman of the date of the first rehearsals for the oratorio of "Elijah," which will be the work given this year. The next regular Symphony concert will take place early in April, directly following the automobile show, and after the piano recital to be given at Association Hall by Miss Ruth Devo. At this concert, Mrs. J. Irving Wood of New York city (nee Miss Perina Hendricks), formerly of Kingston, will be the artist. Mrs. Wood, who is at the head of the artists' department of the Kingston Conservatory of Music, and who has a studio in Carnegie Hall, New York city, is a pianist of rare gifts, and will play a Schumann Concerto with the Kingston Symphony Orchestra.

Life and Character Reading

MARCH 16

The horoscope shows a person of strong will and sometimes very stubborn.

The temper is hasty and impulsive and the nature is aggressive. As a business man, however, this ruling of Jupiter as the planet gives force of character, ability to organize and command, while Pisces gives a generous, warm, affectionate disposition.

This person needs to learn self-control and calm poise.

The happiest marriage will be made with a person born in July or the last of June.

The birthstone is a moonstone.

There seems to be neither sudden fatalities nor accidents in this horoscope.

Neptune gives a love of travel and the ability to make many friends.

The Want Ads will be used to advantage by women seeking positions in offices and department stores.

GRAND JURY HAILS INDICTMENTS

The grand jury, which has been in session for two weeks, rose this afternoon and reported to Supreme Court Justice G. D. R. Hasbrouck, handing up a bunch of indictments, after which it was discharged with the thanks of the court.

The grand jury dismissed the charge of assault with intent to commit rape against Clayton Ticefelt of Chichester.

The following arraignments were made:

Frank Van Steenburgh, indicted on a charge of arson, third degree, for the alleged setting fire to a barn of Willis Roe on North Front street, February 16, pleaded not guilty. Former City Judge N. Frank O'Reilly was assigned to defend him and the case was sent to the county court.

Adelbert Van Horn was arraigned on an indictment charging burglary, third degree, for entering the summer home of Jacob H. Baum, in the town of Saugerties. Attorney John Cashin was assigned to defend him and the case sent to county court.

John Fay and Forrest D'Elmo were arraigned on three indictments for being in the third degree. They were charged with entering the Casino of Byron S. Thornton in the village of Ellenville on the night of December 24, the lunch room of Harold Gager on Canal street, Ellenville, on the night of December 27, and the store of Samuel Taylor on Warren street, Ellenville, on the night of December 28. Both pleaded not guilty and said they had no counsel.

In answer to questions by Judge Hasbrouck Fay said he was 17 years of age, lived with his parents, had been in jail for ten weeks, was in the eighth grade in school when he left three years ago and since leaving school had worked in a garage and in the Ellenville knife factory.

D'Elmo said he had worked in the knife factory and had also run a shoe shine stand.

Both boys laughed while being questioned and seemed to consider the whole affair a huge joke.

Judge Hasbrouck said he understood Fay had admitted entering the building and asked if he preferred to plead guilty and be sent to a Catholic reformatory or to plead not guilty and take his chances on trial before another judge.

Fay replied that he would rather take his chances before some other judge.

Both cases were sent to the county court, after which the supreme court adjourned sine die.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, March 16.—Frank TerBush of New York, formerly of this place, is spending the week in town, in order to be in attendance at the Reynolds-Ellsworth wedding in Kingston on Wednesday, and where he performed the duties of "best man."

Mrs. Rose Fischer of New York is spending a short time with Mrs. George F. Kelp at her home on Center street. Mrs. Fischer was formerly one of the Ellenville high school teachers.

Burton Wood of New York is spending the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron C. Wood.

A party of ladies went on their annual sleigh ride to Kerkonkson on Monday, and enjoyed a fine chicken dinner at Stokes's Hotel.

Mrs. John Traphagen is filling a vacancy for a week at Watson and Sheeley's insurance and real estate office, in the place of Miss Hazel Benson, who is obliged to remain at home on account of the illness of her mother.

A party of our young people of sporting proclivities, went on a snow-shoeing expedition in the wilds of Ulster county, during the week end. After proceeding as far as possible by sleigh, they tramped three miles, on snow shoes, over snow at least three feet deep, to one of the mountain camps in the vicinity of Peekamoose Mountain.

All reached home safely on Monday, very much pleased with their trip. Among the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Schoonmaker, Charles P. Cleveland, Miss Bernice Gaskell and Miss M. Carman.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gaskell very pleasantly entertained their friends on Tuesday evening with an evening of games. After the games were finished very fine refreshments were served by the hostess.

The ladies of the W. C. T. W., with their husbands, gave a farewell reception to Mrs. George F. Kelp at her home on Center street on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. George Kelp are soon to leave Ellenville for their new home in Pine Bush, Orange county.

Mrs. Howard Dutcher entertained the Whist Club on Tuesday afternoon at her pleasant home on Warren street.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. R. T. Cookingham will entertain the Thimble Club at her home on South Main street.

The Junior Endeavorers of the Reformed Church held a very pleasant social on Tuesday evening. The juveniles all said they had a delightful time.

Mrs. Mary Grimley has the misfortune to be one of the latest victims of the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smiley have returned home from Mt. Clemens, Mich., where Mr. Smiley has been taking the baths and treatment for rheumatism. He has not improved as much as he hoped and expected that he should, but perhaps some of the beneficial results of the treatment will develop later.

Excelsior Hose Dance.

What promises to be one of the biggest social events of the season will take place on Friday evening, St. Patrick's night, at the Excelsior Hose Company's engine rooms on Hurley avenue, when the Excelsior fire ladders will hold their annual masquerade ball and reception.

These annual events are looked forward to by many Kingstonsians as the best social functions of the year. Each year draws bigger crowds, and the usual jolly good time is assured when the date of the affair is set. The committee have decided to allow persons who do not wish to mask the privilege to dance with the masqueraders, but they will not be allowed to take part in the grand march, which will be held at 10 o'clock. This number is well worth the admission alone as the costumes of the masqueraders are always smart and stunning. A number of Excelsior fire ladders' friends and sweethearts from Ellenville, Saugerties and Rosendale will attend when they come they are always out to win for their home towns and their rivalry runs to the limit. Everything has been completed for Friday night and one of the "biggest times of your life" is assured all who attend. Dancing will begin at 8 o'clock and will continue until daybreak. All tickets sold by members for their weekly dances will be accepted at the door for this event. Tickets also may be secured at the door.

Dr. Bell at East Kingston.

The need of co-operation as the essential factor in church work was eloquently pointed out in a powerful sermon preached by the Rev. Richard E. Bell, D. D., superintendent of the Kingston District in the East Kingston M. E. Church last Sunday. Just before the church service, Dr. Bell gave an interesting address to the Sunday school. Dr. Bell, who is one of the really great men of our conference, was not only glad to preach at this service, but also offered to walk from Kingston to the East Kingston Church and return. However, through the courtesy of Myron Teller, who provided a rig, with Mr. Taylor and son as drivers, the walk was not necessary. A feature of the Sunday school service was the distribution to the scholars of a lot of interesting literature which was donated by Mrs. James Brink.

Lent at St. John's Church.

The Lenten season is growing in popularity. Many religious bodies are growing more aware of the helpfulness of this season for the soul's making. There is in man a soul that needs constant recreation. A spirit that calls for holy days with as much insistence as the body and mind call for holidays. Lent is a period of quiet concentration. A brief service is held St. John's Church every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Friday night at 7:30. The Rev. W. F. Kleinschmidt, who recently conducted the mission, will be the preacher. Holy Communion every Wednesday at 10 a. m. Confirmation class Friday at 4 p. m.

KENTUCKY COLONELS.

In the Nature of Things They Simply Can't Help Being Numerous.

In the south especially and in Kentucky more especially a man becomes a colonel at about forty-seven unless he is of a willful, rebellious, obstreperous disposition and inclined to stand up for an admitted but rarely exercised right not to become known as "colonel." A man who is not sudden and quick in quarrels and who can be put upon cannot escape becoming "colonel." Many men whose courage is unquestioned prefer not to engage in street fights in opposition to an established custom. It is the rule rather than the exception to submit good naturedly or with concealed impatience when the first three gray hairs appear at the temples and the use of the title begins by popular consent.

There are, of course, many colonels under forty. When a governor is inaugurated he has the power to appoint staff colonels. A governor who does not appoint as colonels such of his constituents as he knows by name is lacking in the punctiliousness which distinguishes the practical politician. Thus many young men who would have been "lieutenants" if they had adopted a military career are made colonels in civil life. Another predisposing cause of premature colonelcy is the tendency of some men to become fat early in life. A man who measures as much as forty inches at the waist line and has not been convicted of felony is entitled, even obliged, to be called "colonel" before he is forty.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Carved by Newton.

In the Newton chapel of the church at Colsterworth, in Lincolnshire, England, where Sir Isaac Newton was born, is to be seen one of the most interesting relics of the greatest of philosophers. It consists of a sundial and was carved by Newton when he was a boy on a stone in the house in which he was born, his only tool being a pen-knife. There it remained for many years until removed to Colsterworth church. Unfortunately the organ has been built directly in front of this interesting relic, so that unless one knows of the stone's existence and its presence in the church it is overlooked.

Nelson's Message.

In a book called "National Humor" a serious footnote states that Nelson's celebrated message, "England expects each man to do his duty," was phrased by the famous admiral as "Nelson expects," etc., and that one of his officers suggested the change of the first word to "England." Nelson's greatness was evident in his immediate acceptance of the change. A smaller man would have felt insulted at the proposed elimination of his own name.

Must Be Well Fed.
The phrase "The shortest road to a man's heart is through his stomach" is by no means a modern saying. It has been true throughout the history of mankind, and although intended to be a joke, it is in reality no reflection on masculinity. A man with a poorly fed stomach can rarely be found to have a disposition inclined even to kind thoughts, much less to love.

Refreshing Drink.
Add a pinch of salt to a half glass of sour cream and a half glass of rich milk, and beat with an eggbeater until light and smooth. Pour into a tall glass, and over the top put a thin coating of pulverized nut meats and a scent grating of nutmeg. Serve cold with crackers.

Sympathetic Ink.
Take some pure lime or lemon juice and write with it on paper. Then heat the paper over an alcohol lamp and the writing will come out brown.

Does Your Product Appeal to Women?

If it does you are logically a newspaper advertiser.

Women are not only newspaper readers—but close readers of newspaper advertising.

Glance through any good newspaper and notice what a large percentage of the advertising is written to women.

They are the purchasing agents for the home.

Manufacturers interested in getting their products before the women with buying power are invited to write to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

Evidently an Untruth.

"That man accuses you of being the greatest grifter on earth." "Yes," replied Senator Sorghum, "but he doesn't mean it. If he believed I was the greatest grifter on earth he'd be right with me in every campaign, trying to get next and make himself chief."

It Sounded Big.

"She talks at different times of 'my maid,' 'my cook' and 'my laundress,'" said the woman with the mackinaw.

"Has she actually so many servants?"

"No," said the accompanying male person. "She means that her hired girl is a lightning change artist."—Detroit Saturday Night.

Didn't Worry.

"What has become of that Don't Worry club you once helped to organize?"

"Everybody refused to worry. The club got in debt and had to disband."—Washington Star.

Extreme Ennui.

"I fear hers is a hopeless case. She's tired of everything."

"Everything?"

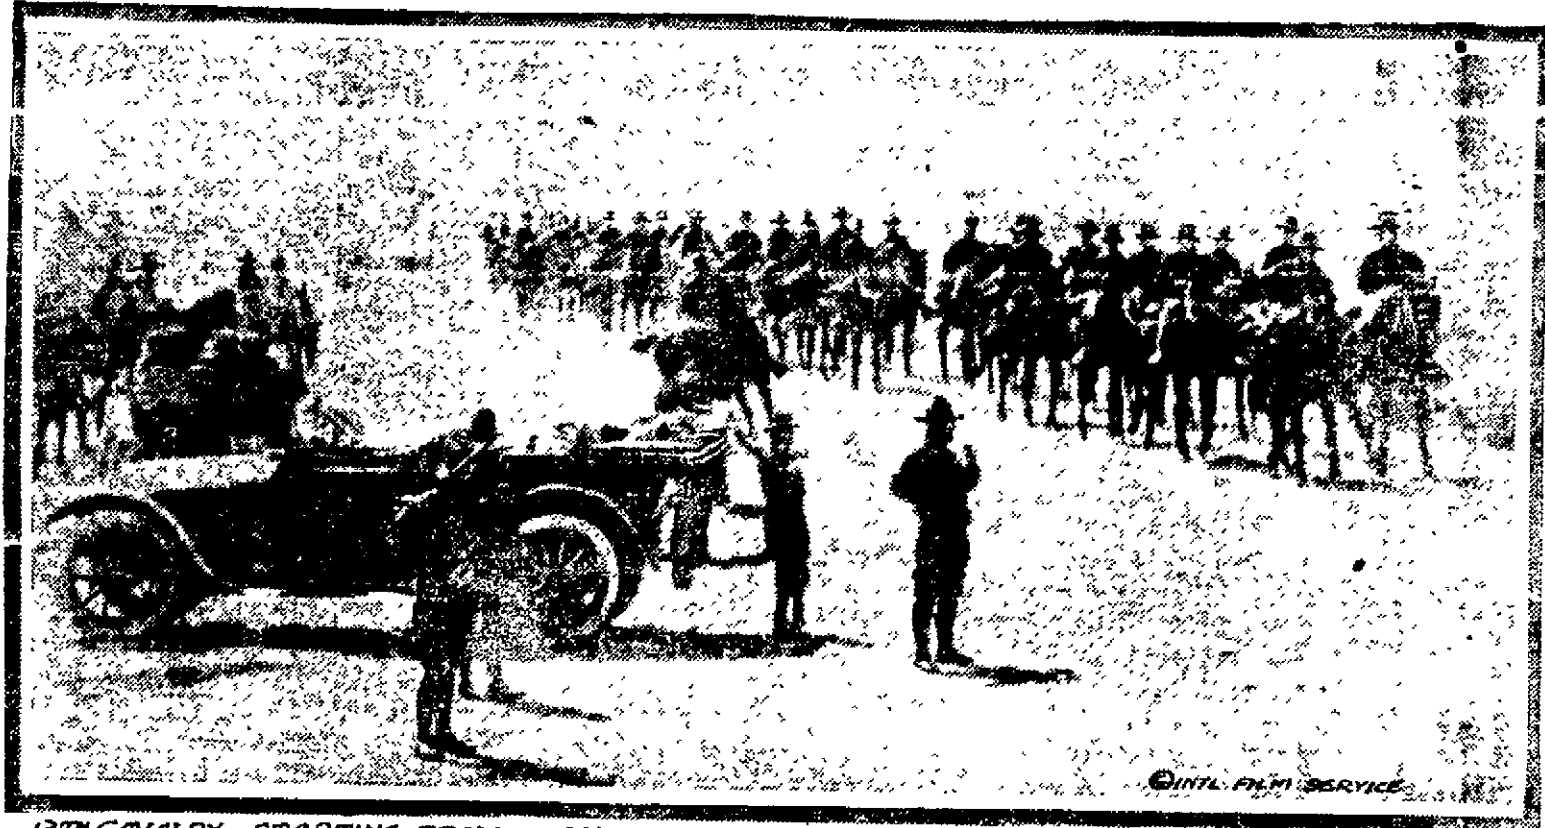

"Yes; even of going to the doctor."—Kansas City Journal.

"Sugar cured, so to speak."—Boston Transcript.

THEY SAY.

"J. Caesar's dope on the Ides of March still holds good," remarked one scholar through a coating of mu ers during the height of the storm Wednesday afternoon. He then opined that the weather was the same as that which marked the blizzard of '88 in its opening stages. Winter sunshine this morning may have made him feel better.

Perils of the storm were reflected in river travel during the afternoon and evening and with the wind sweeping the broad expanse of the Hudson some frostbitten ears and fingers were reported. Charles Bunt, on his way home from Bridgeport, Conn., was one of the victims, his right ear and four fingers being frozen. Other cases were reported of exposure.

One Rondout business man, who was detained in Albany, telephoned a clerk to have one of the river drivers meet the down train at Rhinecliff late in the evening. As in the message to Garcia tale, the young man did exactly as he was told, although the driver refused to stir without a five dollar note. When the latter was well on the way over the river, the business man telephoned again that the risk was too great and he would not make the effort. A half hour's phoning to Rhinecliff finally located the driver who returned safely but insisted on his $5. With that item and the telephoning tolls, the business man will have quite a start for an expense account on the southern trip he is planning to start today.

Sifted in with the snow were words of commendation for the work of the Kingston Consolidated Railway Company for its good work in keeping its tracks clear and its service fairly up to the schedule throughout the storm. In the wake of the snow plow Wednesday afternoon walked many pedestrians who found the middle of the road the only thoroughfare. Motor vehicle progress was also made possible by this means. In the light of unpleasant experiences in former years arising from failure to keep the tracks clear, this maintenance of service is all the more appreciated. In a city laid out on the lines of Kingston a continuous trolley service is a first essential to industry in all lines.

LEIBHARDT.

Leibhardt, March 16.—Mrs. Samuel Thompson was a guest of Mrs. L. E. Lawrence and Mrs. Margaret Lawrence Saturday afternoon and evening.

A number from this place are planning on attending the box social at Sansonville next Wednesday evening, March 22.

Our pastor, the Rev. Mr. Heroy, will attend conference next week and there will be no services again until after conference.

The Misses Ray Churchill and Edna Hornbeck have returned home from Briarcliff. Miss Hornbeck will remain at home and Miss Churchill will return after a week's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hornbeck of Whitfield spent last Wednesday at Mrs. Hornbeck's former home.

Mrs. Agnes Brown entertained Mrs. L. E. Lawrence, Mrs. J. C. Snyder and Mrs. Alex. Brown at a quilling party Thursday afternoon.

Owing to the drifted roads Miss Myers was not able to get through and was a guest at the Barnhardt residence Wednesday night and Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Annie Hornbeck.

A number are planning on enjoying a sleigh ride and also attend the evangelistic services that are being held at the Reformed Church at Accord this week and next.

Oscar Green of Kerhonkson was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Quick for dinner Sunday.

Miss Cora Terwilliger, Miss Ray Churchill, Miss Florence Hornbeck and Mrs. L. E. Lawrence were callers at the home of Mrs. Alex. Brown on Tuesday afternoon.

Another social is being talked of. On Saturday afternoon Little Miss Kathryn A. Brown entertained five of her cousins in honor of her fifth birthday. Refreshments of cake and cream were served.

Mrs. Uriah Quick, Mrs. L. E. Lawrence and the Rev. Mr. Heroy called on Mrs. Annie Hornbeck and daughter, Miss Ridda.

SPECTACULAR RACE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Players Expected to Shine in Ban Johnson's Combination.

(By FRANK G. MENKE.)
A spectacular five-cornered race for pennant honors in the American league is promised by a study of the "dope" from this midwinter angle.

The Red Sox, Yankees, White Sox, Tigers and Browns all seem to have a wonderful chance to grab off the bunting. The Senators do not size up as powerful as any one of the quintet, yet they may spring a surprise. The Athletics and Indians look no better than they did last season, when they staged a thrilling battle for the collar championship.

The world's champions probably will take the field as they lined up in 1915. There have been a number of additions to the Lannin crew since the last championship battle was fought, but none of the newcomers looks good enough to oust any of the regulars. Bill Carrigan, the managerial person, is hopeful, however, of building up a powerful secondary defense with his new talent.

Yankees Wonderfully Improved.
No team in the Johnson circuit has such a wealth of fine material as the Yankees. Reckless expenditure of money has added to the roster of the once joke ball club, some of the brightest stars that shone last year in the Federal league, American Association and International league.

The Yankee infield and outfield promise to rank among the greatest in the country. They have speed, fielding brilliance and batting power. Behind the bat the Yanks have been fortified, while their pitching staff shows greater promise than any other club in the league. To augment the regulars of last year—Caldwell, Keating and Fischer—there are Nick Cullop, the southpaw star of the Feds; Allen Russell, who was a sensation in the International; Dan Tiple, who made a great record in the American Association; Bob Shawkey, one-time Athletic; George Mogridge, who won 24 out of 35 combats in the Western league, and a dozen others.

The White Sox surely will be in the fight. They have been strengthened where they needed it—in secondary defense—by the purchase of some real stars from the bushes. The Sox looked like world beaters last year—and for a time they did beat everything in sight. Then they dropped behind. That was because they lacked a real wallop—because their reserve force was not up to standard. This year it's different—and White Sox rooters are dreaming pennant dreams.

Watch Those Tigers.
Hughie Jennings hopes to find among his "rookies" at least two pitchers who can stand the major raft. If his hopes are realized, those Tigers will be the team that must be beaten by the club that wins the pennant. Not outfit in the country has greater offensive strength. Lack of airtight pitching lost the 1915 pennant for the jungle boys. Give Jennings two young pitchers of real worth to add to his collection of veterans—and then watch those Tigers go.

The Browns size up as the greatest combination that ever represented the Missouri metropolis. The merging of the Browns of 1915 with the Sloufeds has placed under the management of Fielder Jones the grandest collection of ball players that any St. Louis team has owned. Jones has enough good ball players to form two great clubs. His problem is to build the most powerful machine possible from the many cogs at his disposal. If he builds right—and Jones is a wizard in that line—the Browns will be up in the fight all the way.

Clark Griffith, as ever, is emitting pennant predictions. His club does not look much better than it did last year, when it never was in the running, but Griffith nurses the hope that Apprehensive.

Burroughs—"I know a man who looks so much like you that one could hardly tell you apart." Lenders—"You haven't paid him that five I lent you three months ago, have you?"

some of his men will begin hitting and that a few of his twirlers will improve to a point where they can be of material assistance to the "Human Bullet."

"Hopeless Twins."
Connie Mack asks you all not to confine his club to last place "because we may surprise you." But Connie's timber is so green that it seems unlikely that he can build a machine within the next two or three years that will have even a fair chance for the pennant. The Athletics, in other words, ought to finish seventh—if they don't finish eighth.

And now as for the Indians. On the roster are a dozen or more likely looking youngsters. But if two of them develop into real major leaguers, the Indians will be lucky, because the ratio of bushers' success in the big leagues is smaller than one in six. The Indians have not been strengthened by the purchase of major league talent. The regular team of 1915 was, at best, a mediocre outfit. Its pitching power was a minus quality; its batting strength, after Joe Jackson was sold, skidded off. In fielding the Naps were only ordinary.

Barring a miracle, the Indians won't finish better than sixth—and most likely they'll finish eighth.

PHELAN EXPECTED TO STAR

Former Cub Utility Player Released to Kansas City American Association Organization.

One of the players expected to star in the American association this season is infielder Art Phelan, whom Danny Shuler obtained from the Chicago Cubs for his Kansas City Blues. Phelan, as utility man for the Cubs, took part in 133 games last season, appearing at third base in at least a part of 110 contests and in the short-field on 24 occasions. He hit only 219, but fielded for an average of .939. Phelan is rated as a smart ball player, and because of his experience he should prove the mainstay of the Blue infield. Phelan played with Cincinnati and other National league clubs before going to the Cubs.

New Shells for Yale.

The champion Yale varsity eight will have two new shells for use in preliminary and dual races this summer. A new coaching launch has also been donated by several alumni. Coach Guy Nickalls will again have charge of the Blue crews.

Stanford at Michigan.

Leland Stanford's track meet with the University of Michigan will take place May 20 at Ann Arbor.

Taking Chinese Census.

The inhabitants of China are counted every year in a curious manner. The oldest master of every ten houses has to count the families and make a list, which is sent to the imperial tax house.

The second part of the program will consist of a lecture, illustrated by motion pictures, given by Mr. O'Leary which is entitled "Uncle Sam and John Bull." No admission will be charged but a collection will be taken. A complete program will be published later.

MAINED SOLDIER, BEARING TO USE ARTIFICIAL ARM.

ORGANIZED EFFORTS TO TEACH TRADES TO MAINED SOLDIERS.

One of the most important of the several relief works under way for the benefit of soldiers wounded in the war is now in progress in France, and, though willing agents, also in the United States. This is the organized effort to provide training in suitable trades for the maimed soldiers of the French republic.

An appeal for help for the American committee having the relief work in charge here has been issued by Mrs. Edmund L. Baylies, its chairman. The work is under the official patronage of the president of France. What the movement is accomplishing and hopes still more to accomplish has been set forth by Arthur Gleason, one of those identified with it.

"A society has been formed in France to save these men," says Mr. Gleason. "For $100 a maimed man can be supported and educated into a worker who will carry himself. Such trades are already taught as basket-making, carpentry, glass work, photography, shoemaking, tailoring, instrument making, watch making, tinware, bookkeeping, shorthand, etc.

Skating is a pleasure of the past in this vicinity as the heavy fall of snow has completely covered the bare ice field of rural rink.

James Weed has purchased two hogs of a farmer near Modena for $64, which is a record price.

If fruit plants could produce the value that munition plants to farming would become immediately attractive.

The Mexican civil war muddle will no doubt be settled finally by Americanism which could have been done in all probability in the beginning of the unhappy struggle for government supremacy in that country.

Yawning.

Yawning is a peculiar act and one that has never yet been properly accounted for. It is not by any means a sign of fatigue only, although it is sometimes produced by over exertion.

But an attack of yawning comes on much more quickly if one is intensely bored, and certainly a stuffy atmosphere tends to produce it. It is also noticeable that when one has gone considerably past one's mealtime the tendency to yawn frequently becomes irresistible. A very peculiar feature of this complaint is its infectiousness; one person can easily set half a dozen all yawning in turn. When present in a very marked extent it is supposed to be the outcome of anemia, indigestion or some other complaint.

Real Sympathy.

An old farmer down the country giving instructions for his will directed a legacy of $25,000 to be given to his wife. Being informed that some distinction was usually made in case the widow married again, he doubled the sum, and when told that this was contrary to custom he said, with heartfelt sympathy for his possible successor, "Aye, but him that gets her'll deserve it."

The Flight of Birds.

One of the few men to recover sight after being blind from the birth of reprobation was reported to have wondered at nothing so much as the flight of the birds. "Why do not people make more fuss about them?" he said.—London Outlook.

HER BORROWED ROBE.

It Brought an Actress the Most Perilous Moment of Her Life.

"The only time I ever was a thief saved my life," said Rose Coghlan once. "My sister-in-law, Louise Thornton, was playing in 'Colleen Bawn' in Scotland. I was Anne Chute, one of the bridesmaids, and I always dressed in Louise's room with her.

"This particular night she was ill, and her understudy went on. Now, it happened that I had longed and longed to wear a certain costume of Louise's. It wasn't one bit suitable for a girl of my age in a bridesmaid part, being made of heavy white corded silk with a long court train and all the fixings, but I adored it.

"I dressed up in it and went out to wait for the cue with the other girls. Just as we were ready to go on some one behind me said, 'Rose, your dress is on fire!'

"I think that is the most fearful word that can sound in a theater—'Fire.' My train had caught fire from one of the little gas footlights, unperceived then.

"The girls in their light dresses were trying to get away from me, and the nearest man, Hardress, was handcuffed. I crushed my train in my hands to smother the creeping flame and backed off down the steps under the stage. A man down there threw a heavy cloak over me, and I fainted. I was burned badly around my hands and arms and neck, but the heavy silk dress saved me."—New York World.

The Tyrant in the Field.

There have been few commanders so tyrannous as Lopez, the dictator of Paraguay, when in the war of 1865-70 it fought single handed the neighboring countries of Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay. Lopez says Mr. W. H. Koebel in his "Argentina" was wont to carry the theory of victory or death to an uncomfortable point. "Officers were executed for mere remarks whose tone fell beneath the standard of confidence that Lopez had set up for himself. One, for instance was shot for having announced in the course of his duty that the enemy was strongly intrenched. Another met his end on account of an unguarded speech to the effect that the Paraguayan army was accustomed to count the enemy's losses and forget its own."

An Interesting Suite of Dining-Room Furniture

You have certainly heard of---and probably read---Charles Major's delightful story "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."

The story is founded on fact, for about 1575, Dorothy Vernon was one of England's most famous beauties, and lived at Haddon Hall---which stands today in Derbyshire, England, little changed after all these years.

We have just purchased the "Dorothy Vernon" Dining-room Suite, a reproduction of the Jacobean period.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

The junior class has now fully decided to give a light comedy entitled "A Case of Suspicion," and will probably give a short scene from one of Dickens' novels at the same time. The date for this entertainment has been set for Wednesday, April 19, instead of the following Thursday as formerly arranged. The latter date is the last day of school before the Easter vacation and would be preferable on that account were it not that it is Holy Thursday. The junior class does not intend to give a deep play this season and refer their friends to the senior play coming the next week, if they wish to see what the high school students can do with serious drama. But the junior entertainment will be full of laughs which will be well worth the small admission of 15 cents which they intend to charge.

The minstrels are progressing rapidly and nearly every afternoon the practicing chorus fill the school with the sound of their voices. This show will be presented a week from Friday evening, and will no doubt draw a large audience as it is the first entertainment of this nature to be given in the school this season.

Friday afternoon, March 17, the seniors will play a double header against the juniors in basketball. The boys will play first at 3:15 and their game will be immediately followed by the girls game. This is expected to be a general happy-go-lucky affair, and it is hoped that it will do much to awaken the school spirit of the high school, which seems to be present although very dormant. The students are very active in their activities, but the relationship that existed between the two old schools and their respective pupils has not yet put in its appearance in the new building. The students do not expect that the love of alma mater that has taken years to grow could be transplanted in one term, but some of them feel that there is not the spirit shown which the high school's prowess in intellectual attainments, athletics, social activities and so forth merits.

Those who follow the athletic reports will remember that the Mid-gets of the high school received their first defeat of the season in Hudson at the hands of the Hudson Juniors last Saturday. Well, they were not satisfied with being beaten once by these up-river boys so they have asked them to come down here this Saturday and try to do it again. The game will begin at 3 o'clock in the high school gymnasium, and the Mid-gets will charge 10 cents admission to defray the traveling expenses of the visiting team.

GRANITE.

Granite, March 16.—An entertainment will be given in the M. E. Church March 21. If stormy, next fair night. The play is entitled "My Awful Aunt." Ice cream and cake will be served after the entertainment.

Only one more Sunday before conference, but we are all hoping for the return of our pastor, the Rev. Mr. Pryne.

Miss Hazel Turner visited friends in Pataukunk Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Increase Green, Jr., and Hebron Sheldon were the guests of John Whitaker and family Sunday last.

Mrs. John Hendrickson, who has been caring for her mother, Mrs. Sarah Decker, the past week, has returned to her home in Allenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Addis were the guests of John Smith and family of Pataukunk.

Selah Sheldon and wife were callers at Charles Terwilliger's at Kerhonkson Sunday.

Mrs. Harry Enderly of Kingston is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Walker.

The cold weather still prevails here. Householders who have had to shovel snow devoutly hope this will be the last snow of the season, 24, will be observed by the weatherman and that the storm of Wednesday will be the last of the season.

METTACAHONTS.

On Friday a slight chimney fire occurred at Mrs. E. D. Markle's. With the prompt help of E. B. Hendrickson and other neighbors with ladders it was quickly extinguished.

Mrs. S. E. Churchwell returned home on Thursday from a pleasant stay at Ellenville. It is doubtful if she could have reached this place from Accord, had it not been for Jesse Osterhoudt, who was at that place, and with whom she rode up.

William Wood, who has been seriously ill, is slowly improving.

Elmer B. Hendrickson leaves this week for a lucrative out of town position. We wish him the best of luck in his new surroundings.

Proctor Enderly enjoyed a day's vacation on Wednesday of this week.

Several of our young people will leave in the near future for positions at Lake Mohawk for the coming season.

The railroad needs money not only to pay the expenses of hauling passengers and freight.

It costs millions more to keep the right of way and rolling stock in condition.

It takes tens of millions in addition to supply steel cars, new safety appliances and other modern facilities and comforts demanded by the public.

Keep the earnings down below a certain point and the railroads will be unable to meet this constant demand.

The Butler.

Some of the more wealthy homes substitute for the waitress the butler, and if your home is such a one, take a tip from this little preachment and get the butler you want, the kind that is efficient and can be relied upon, through an Ad in the Want Columns.

Look over the Want Ads today and just see how many such men are looking for work in this Spring-time of the year.

There are lot and lots of them and you can pick the one you want by answering a few of the Wants you see in the paper today and by running a Want Ad of your own and choosing from among the answering applicants.

SPECIAL TRAINS TO AUTO SHOW

Special trains on all the railroads have been arranged for Governor's Night of the auto show. These trains will convey the out of town people coming to hear Governor Whitman speak at the opening night of the show and attend the exhibition. Because of the wide radius covered by the four railroads, the trade extension committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which has charge of this department of the work, feel especially fortunate to secure the special trains to carry the people to their respective stations at night. The trains will probably leave Kingston at 10 p. m., thus allowing the people to hear the governor's speech, attend the show and partake of the late train to be offered by the local merchants.

Announcement has been of the excursion rates which the Ulster and Delaware Railroad has offered for Thursday, the first day of the show, but two weeks away. A large number of the out of town people will probably come from the country covered by this railroad. G. L. Robertson, general passenger agent of the Ontario and Western Railroad, has agreed to give a special train on his railroad going as far as Middletown and leaving here at 10 o'clock on Governor's Night. A large territory lies between Kingston and Middletown and many will probably come from this country. The matter of rates is still under consideration. J. E. Canfield, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, in behalf of the trade extension committee, negotiated with Mr. Robertson about the special train. Mr. Canfield has also been communicating with Clarence C. Howard, of the New York Central lines, and he has practically assured Mr. Canfield that there would be a special south bound train on the West Shore leaving here after the governor's speech and stopping at all stations between here and Newburgh. It was practically assured that train No. 25, northbound, leaving Kingston at 10:20, would stop at most of the stations between here and Newburgh. Mr. Howard promised a special train on the Wallkill Valley division, stopping at all points between Kingston and Walden or Wallkill. The matters unsettled are the rates and stations at which the train will stop.

Invited to Saugerties.

The members of the Kingston Monday Club, the Lowell Club and Mrs. C. K. Moulton, president of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, were invited by the members of the Saugerties Monday Club to be their guests this afternoon, when Mrs. Shuler, former president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, will speak on "Civics."

Federation Meeting Postponed.

The regular meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs, which is usually, though not necessarily, held on the third Thursday morning of each month, was postponed until next week, Thursday morning, March 23, owing to the impassable condition of many streets this morning at the hour when the meeting would open. All members of the executive committee are asked to keep in mind the fact that the meeting, which will be an important one, will be held next week Thursday morning.

Kingston Women at Albany.

Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, chairman of the Third District Branch of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. W. E. Simmons of Kingston attended the meeting of the Third District Branch, held at the Historical Building, Washington avenue, Albany, on Wednesday. In spite of the blizzard there was an excellent attendance. The reports given by the various federations included in this section were all full of interest, this being one of the strongest district branches in the state. During the session Mrs. Anne P. Field spoke on "Prison Reform."

Surprise Party at Bloomington.

A very pleasant surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith on Tuesday evening, the occasion being to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Smith, who was very much surprised when a little after 8 o'clock, several of his friends walked in to wish him many happy returns of the day. The evening was well spent in playing games and listening to the music which was furnished for the occasion by the Bloomington orchestra. The selections which consisted of the popular songs, were well rendered and were greatly applauded and highly appreciated by all present. At midnight a buffet luncheon was served, the greatest attraction of that being the birthday cake which was lit up with candles as a reminder of each year spent. It was very beautiful to the eye and very palatable to the taste. At a late hour the guests departed, after having expressed their pleasure in helping Mr. Smith to celebrate his birthday in such a pleasant way.

The Blue Ribbon Club of this city will hold another of their popular Saturday night dances at Griffith's Hall on Hasbrouck avenue this coming Saturday evening. Owing to McLean's orchestra having been engaged to play at the armory on last Saturday evening and not desiring to run opposition to the dance at the armory, no dance was held, which gave rise to a rumor that the series were to be discontinued for the season. The club members have no intention of stopping the series at present, as each dance held up to the present time has been a social success, and also a financial one, and it would not be policy to stop the series in the midst of such unforeseen success. When the series was first started it was intended to have only two or three affairs, but a continued demand on the part of the patrons made it necessary for the club to keep on having a regular weekly dance. Just as soon as the public tires of the affairs they will be immediately discontinued. As usual McLean's popular orchestra will furnish the music, playing all of the latest and popular airs. Dancing will be held from eight until twelve o'clock.

Dates of Post Jubilee Lectures.

All of the dates and places of meeting for the three remaining Post Jubilee Lectures are now ready for announcement and are as follows: On Wednesday evening, March 29, Mrs. W. A. Montgomery, who is author of "Western Women in Eastern Lands," "Island Worlds of the Pacific," "The King's Highway," (notably mission study books), is better known as Helen Barrett Montgomery, will lecture on "A Trip Around the World," at the First Reformed Dutch Church.

On Friday evening, April 14, Bishop Homer C. Stuntz, who has been at the head of a conference in South America and has just returned, will speak on "South America," a subject on which he is preeminently well fitted to speak. In addition to the first hand knowledge which he will be able to give, he is said to be a captivating speaker, having delivered an address on "The Philippines," before the Holland Society which was more than enthusiastic over Bishop Stuntz as a lecturer. This lecture will be given in the St. James M. E. Church.

Dr. Edward A. Steiner will be the last lecturer. On Friday evening, May 12, Dr. Steiner will speak in the First Dutch Church on "The Struggle for Brotherhood." He is too well known and too popular to need further introduction.

New Trustee for Symphony Society.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Symphony Society, held at Symphony Hall on Sunday afternoon last, Ezra A. Abrams was elected a trustee of the organization and on his acceptance of the trusteeship, was further elected financial secretary. Mr. Abrams's affiliation with the Symphony Society will be a great advantage to the society, as he is recognized as a young man of unusual business ability and astuteness, and furthermore is heartily interested in all that goes to make of Kingston a progressive and prosperous city. Appreciating the real artistic worth and cultural advantage of his organization to the city and vicinity, Mr. Abrams has been for some time so much interested in its success that he is now willing to give of his time and effort toward the promotion of its best interests.

It is expected that arrangements will be completed this week for the holding of another spring festival this coming May or June, and an announcement will very soon be made in The Freeman of the date of the first rehearsals for the oratorio of "Elijah," which will be the work given this year. The next regular Symphony concert will take place early in April, directly following the automobile show, and after the piano recital to be given at Association Hall by Miss Ruth Deyo. At this concert, Mrs. J. Irving Wood of New York city, formerly of Kingston, will be the artist. Mrs. Wood, who is at the head of the artists' department of the Kingston Conservatory of Music, and who has a studio in Carnegie Hall, New York city, is a pianist of rare gifts, and will play a Schumann Concerto with the Kingston Symphony Orchestra.

THEY SAY.

"J. Caesar's dope on the idea of March still holding good," remarked one scholar through a coating of mucus during the height of the storm Wednesday afternoon. He then opined that the weather was the same as that which marked the blizzard of '88 in its opening stages. Winter sunshine this morning may have made him feel better.

Perils of the storm were reflected in river travel during the afternoon and evening and with the wind sweeping the broad expanse of the Hudson some frostbitten ears and fingers were reported. Charles Bunt, on his way home from Bridgeport, Conn., was one of the victims, his right ear and four fingers being frozen. Other cases were reported of exposure.

One Roundout business man, who was detained in Albany, telephoned a clerk to have one of the river drivers meet the down train at Rhinecliff late in the evening. As in the message to Garcia tale, the young man did exactly as he was told, although the driver refused to stir without a five dollar note. When the latter was well on the way over the river, the business man telephoned again that the risk was too great and he would not make the effort. A half hour's phoning to Rhinecliff finally located the driver who returned safely but insisted on his $5. With that item and the telephoning tolls, the business man will have quite a start for an expense account on the southern trip he is planning to start today.

Sifted in with the snow were words of commendation for the work of the Kingston Consolidated Railway Company for its good work in keeping its tracks clear and in service. Until, up to the middle of the snow plow Wednesday afternoon walked many pedestrians who found the middle of the road the only thoroughfare. Motor vehicle progress was also made possible by this means. In the light of unpleasant experiences in former years arising from failure to keep the tracks clear, this maintenance of service is all the more appreciated. In a city laid out on the lines of Kingston a continuous trolley service is a first essential to industry in all lines.

SPECTACULAR RACE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Players Expected to Shine in Ban Johnson's Combination.

(By FRANK G. MENKE)
A spectacular five-cornered race for pennant honors in the American league is promised by a study of the "dope" from this midwinter angle.

The Red Sox, Yankees, White Sox, Tigers and Browns all seem to have a wonderful chance to grab off the bunting. The Senators do not size up as powerful as any one of the quintet, yet they may spring a surprise. The Athletics and Indians look no better than they did last season, when they staged a thrilling battle for the collar championship.

The world's champions probably will take the field as they lined up in 1915. There have been a number of additions to the Lannin crew since the last championship battle was fought, but none of the newcomers looks good enough to oust any of the regulars. Bill Carrigan, the managerial person, is hopeful, however, of building up a powerful secondary defense with his new talent.

Yankees Wonderfully Improved.
No team in the Johnson circuit has such a wealth of fine material as the Yankees. Reckless expenditure of money has added to the roster of the once joke ball club, some of the brightest stars that shone last year in the Federal league American Association and International league.

The Yankee infield and outfield promise to rank among the greatest in the country. They have speed, fielding brilliance and batting power. Behind the bat the Yanks have been fortified, while their pitching staff shows greater promise than any other club in the league. To augment the regulars of last year—Caldwell, Keating and Fischer—there are Nick Culp, the southpaw star of the Feds; Allen Russell who was a sensation in the International Dan Tipple, who made a great record in the American Association; Bob Shawkey, one-time Athletic; George Mogridge, who won 24 out of 35 combats in the Western league, and a dozen others.

The White Sox surely will be in the fight. They have been strengthened where they needed it—in secondary defense—by the purchase of some real stars from the bushes. The Sox looked like world beaters last year—and for a time they did beat everything in sight. Then they dropped behind. That was because they lacked a real wallow—because their reserve force was not up to standard. This year it's different—and White Sox rooters are dreaming pennant dreams.

Watch Those Tigers.
Hughie Jennings hopes to find among his "rookies" at least two pitchers who can stand the major draft. If his hopes are realized, those Tigers will be the team that must be beaten by the club that wins the pennant. Not outfit in the country has greater offensive strength. Lack of airtight pitching lost the 1915 pennant for the jungle boys. Give Jennings two more pitchers of real worth to add to his collection of veterans—and then watch those Tigers go.

The Browns size up as the greatest combination that ever represented the Missouri metropolis. The merging of the Browns of 1915 with the Sloufeds has placed under the management of Fielder Jones the grandest collection of ball players that any St. Louis team has owned. Jones has enough good ball players to form two great clubs. The problem is to build the most powerful machine possible from the many cogs at his disposal. If he builds right—and Jones is a wizard in that line—the Browns will be up in the fight all the way.

Clark Griffith, as ever, is emitting pennant predictions. His club does not look much better than it did last year, when it never was in the running, but Griffith nurses the hope that some of his men will begin hitting and that a few of his twirlers will improve to a point where they can be of material assistance to the "Human Bullet."

"Hopeless Twins."
Connie Mack asks you all not to confine his club to last place "because we may surprise you." But Connie's timber is so green that it seems unlikely that he can build a machine within the next two or three years that will have even a fair chance for the pennant. The Athletics, in other words, ought to finish seventh—if they don't finish eighth.

And now as for the Indians. On the roster are a dozen or more likely looking youngsters. But if two of them develop into real major leaguers, the Indians will be lucky, because the ratio of bushers' success in the big leagues is smaller than one in six. The Indians have not been strengthened by the purchase of major league talent. The regular team of 1915 was, at best, a mediocre outfit. Its pitching power was a minus quality; its batting strength, after Joe Jackson was sold, slumped off. In fielding the Naps were only ordinary.

During a miracle, the Indians won't finish better than sixth—and most likely they'll finish eighth.

PHELAN EXPECTED TO STAR

Former Cub Utility Player Released to Kansas City American Association Organization.

One of the players expected to star in the American association this season is infielder Art Phelan, whom Danny Shay obtained from the Chicago Cubs for his Kansas City Blues. Phelan, as utility man for the Cubs, took part in 133 games last season, appearing at third base in at least a part of 110 contests and in the short-field on 24 occasions. He hit only .219, but fielded for an average of .969. Phelan is rated as a smart ball player, and because of his experience he should prove the mainstay of the Blue infield. Phelan played with Cincinnati and other National league clubs before going to the Cubs.
